OIL POLLUTION looks like this. This duck, caught in the thick layer of spilled oil at Linda Mar Beach, was suffocated within the layer and washed ashore. Near this duck someone had tried to light a fire to burn the oil, but it didn't work. (Other Pictures, Page 2)

Gooey Oil Slick

A Pacifica Beach Mess

By JOHN CURRY

A small but growing army of ecologically minded workers, armed with gallons of vegetable and mineral oil, rags and cotton swabs and their own hands, descended on Linda Mar Beach in Pacifica yesterday morning to begin the gruesome job of cleaning up after the San Francisco Bay oil spill of Monday morning.

They carried thrashing, squawking or dead birds off the beach to City of Pacifica city trucks and delivered them to a central aid station at a golf driving range at Pedro Point.

They spent all day, with no end in sight, kneading the heavy black oil off the birds, rubbing down their eyes and bills with cotton swabs first.

Choking, screaming or just thrashing ducks, terns, loons and coots were found all over Linda Mar Beach, where the oil slick being washing out the Golden Gate was working its way south with the current.

It came ashore in the Linda Mar cove early yesterday morning.

The oil, from the Standard Oil tanker Oregon Standard, was what the company calls "bunker oil," a general term that could mean many types of refined oil.

Estimates of anything from 500,000 to two million gallons have been made for the spill, caused when the Oregon Standard was rammed in heavy fog near Golden Gate Bridge by another Standard tanker, the Arizona Standard.

Volunteers, most of them young, arrived at Linda Mar all morning. Peninsula Humane Society and Pacifica city personnel arranged for the aid station.

Many of the youngsters were Terra Nova High School students, brought in by schoolbus.

They want to work on the first truckload of a dozen or so birds. In the city pickup truck box, two long-billed loons fought and wrestled, unable to fly but otherwise apparently unharmed and a canvasback duck with a glistening coat of hardening oil lay on its back, blinking and wheezing.

Another canvasback sat upright, congealed almost into a ball, its eyes and bill cleared of oil. Blood trickled from a nostril.

"Many of these birds are gone," Humane Society Animal Control Officer Walter Callahan said, "it's too late for them."

Those that can be saved have been taken to the Society shelter.

After the birds had been picked up the beach work force started to work on the oil itself. It had nearly the consistency of tar and stuck to everything like glue. Walking on the beach was recommended for no one yesterday.

Several other dead birds were reported

D.C. Citizen Relocation With Gas Tax Money

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Daly City has become the first city in the state to use gasoline tax funds for relocation of residents uprooted by a city street project.

Paul Hitchins, assistant director of the Local Government Fiscal Affairs Division of the State Controller's Office, gave his stamp of approval to the relocation proposal Monday.

The plan concerns some 25 owner-occupants and 34 renter occupied housing units in what has become known as the "Knowles Corridor Project" east of the Junipero Serra Freeway in the vicinity of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station.

City manager David Rowe told the council at a public study session Monday the improvement project along Knowles would convert the roadway into four through lanes with limited access public roads running parallel. These parallel roads will be separated from the main thoroughfare with greenbelts.

The move to use gas tax funding to aid people dislocated in a city road project is a milestone.

Daly City's guide for dispensing the funds is patterned after the State Division of Highways' program.

Albert Jenkin, a longtime critic of the project, and chairman of the Hillcrest Community Improvement Association, commended the council and city staff, calling the program "a good thing."

While no basis to determine the over-all cost of the program is available, according to city attorney Albert Polonsky, it will not cost local taxpayers any money.

Funds will be made available to move persons actually residing in affected homes. This figure cannot exceed $200. A "dislocation allowance" of $100 will also be paid by the city.

Supplemental allowances not exceeding $5,000 will be paid to owner-occupants of a home.

In addition to these payments a further payment not to exceed $5,000 for the purchase of a comparable dwelling, will be made to the owner-occupant. In the case of a renter-occupant, the city will provide for supplemental payments necessary to enable them to rent a comparable home for two years, or to make a down payment on replacement housing.

These payments cannot exceed $1,500.

For example: If a renter is now paying $125 monthly for a three-bedroom home and the cost of a replacement dwelling is $150 monthly, the city will pay the extra $25.

The plots affected in the improvement must be vacated by January, 1972.

A Relocation Advisory Committee consisting of perhaps five persons appointed by the City Council to assist the City Manager in developing specific provisions of the program, will soon be set up.

Meanwhile, the council Monday adopted a resolution forming the city's first Housing Committee.

Making up this committee is Edward Eastman, Julius Castellan, Bennie Tolliver, John Muller, Steve Salkind, Clark Kerns and Exie Wallace.

Responsibilities of the committee will be limited to recommendations concerning present and future needs of housing; housing conditions within Daly City, and; research and studies of the city's future housing needs.

A report is expected from the committee within the next 12 months on this matter.

Councilman Long Files Libel Action

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno Councilman Ted Long has filed a $125,000 libel suit against former Recall Chairman and council candidate Orville Wycoff, The Recall Committee and 50 John Does.

In a press conference held Tuesday morning Long said he filed the suit because "I'm tired of being accused and refused the opportunity to debate the issues openly."

He said he is "frustrated" because he wants to debate the issues but neither Wycoff, nor any other member of the recall group, refuses to do so.

According to Long the decision to file the suit came to a head after a press release issued by new Recall Committee Chairman Larry Mobley urged candidates "to forget all the issues."

"It is apparent they won't allow me to talk about what was relevant to this election. This was the final frustration," said Long.

The suit asks $100,000 in punitive damages, and $25,000 for damage to name, credit, reputation and business and income loss.

Long prepared the document, and said it would be handled

No-Return Container Law Approved in South S.F.

(Related Stories, Page 17)

South San Francisco made history Monday by final adoption of the controversial ordinance prohibiting the sale of products in certain non-returnable beverage containers.

It becomes law July 1, unless a related resolution proves effective. This resolution, a rider on the ordinance, calls for a 90-day study period as a means of seeking other solutions to the problem, for example, recycling.

Councilman Frank Mammini made the motion. It was seconded by Councilman Warren Steinkamp, and Councilman Frank Bertucelli cast the majority vote.

Mayor Patrick Ahern said, "I could vote yes and be popular. I won't." Councilman Bill Borba remained steadfast in his contention the ordinance was illegal.

More than 500 persons crowded into the El Camino High School Little Theater auditorium to witness the four-hour hearing.

At the conclusion, youth (and adults) backing the ordinance were joyous. Arm-chair attorneys professed its illegality. Merchants, moaning their doom, promised a legal response.

Those speaking in favor of the ordinance by far outnumbered those against it. Judging from audience applause sympathy rode with the proponents all he way.

Rhetoric ranged from poetic to redundance.

Toward the end of the session City Attorney John Noonan began analyzing the situation aloud. "A relevant question is how many bottles and cans are sold in South San Francisco? What does this pose as a problem to the city?" he asked.

The city attorney said that if he opposed the ordinance he would let it be passed, "Then I'd defeat it by a court proceeding."

He said that if he favored the ordinance he would recommend a 90-day delay. "You have accomplished the maximum with the introduction," said Noonan. "By waiting, you will have time to pull out all the bugs in the ordinance."

Resident Don Gamma questioned, "Why the city attorney becomes a 45-minute speaker for the entire council?"

At this point, Councilman Mammini came in with his motion, saying, "We have found in the past that if we postpone something, somehow or other it manages to get lost."

San Mateo Attorney Robert Hutchinson, who said he "was simply here as a volunteer" to help the youth, added more direction.

"How much longer are they (the youth) going to have to face the continual put-off?" said Hutchinson. "If we can get the law passed we can maintain interest and momentum. The law can always be repealed."

Land Is Needed

Trustee Action Endangers D.C. Flood Control Project

An ambitious $300,000 flood control project in the Garden Valley section of Daly City that would provide relief for the rain-soaked residents living there may have to be scrapped.

The city had hoped to improve the storm drain system in the East Market Street-Hillside Boulevard area, along with road improvements, using gasoline tax monies.

However, two members of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees last week opposed the transfer of a K-6 school.

Without the property to widen the roadway the entire project is in jeopardy, city manager David Rowe explained Monday.

Both trustees Mrs. Dorothy Adams and William Schumaucher have expressed opposition to the land turnover.

Their expressed opposition stems from lack of assurances from Daly City that safety measures will be taken to protect school children in the area. They are also concerned about the noise level generated by traffic along the road once the street is widened.

In order to deed the needed land to the city four trustees must favor the matter. The vote now stands 3-2.

What has city officials' minds boggled is a previous stand adopted by the school district and the flipflop being experienced now that the project is ready to get under way.

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett said he feared the district's failure to participate in the improvements will also scuttle the county's Hillside Boulevard improvement project.

This project would provide curbs, gutters and sidewalks for the busy street and increase the safety of children walking in that area, Lycett said.

Attending Monday's meeting of the council was Hillside Homeowners' Improvement Association president Jerry Delfino.

Delfino said his association had already gone on record as favoring the project.

In answer to a query by Mayor Lycett, Delfino said he had not heard any recent opposition to the improvement projects by residents.

The school matter is expected to again be brought up next Tuesday night by the JESD Board of Trustees.

North Candidates for School Boards File

Three candidates have filed for two trustee positions in the Jefferson Union High School District to date.

They are incumbent Al Teglia of Daly City, Dale Buettenbach, a member of Pacifica's Laguna Salada school district Board of Trustees, and Thomas J. LaFlesh, president of the Brisbane school board.

Only one has filed for the Jefferson Elementary School District board in Daly City.

Mrs. Beverly Forrester was the first of the candidates to file.

Two San Bruno Park School District incumbents have filed. They are Eugene F. May of 2159 Crestmoor Drive and Harry F. Redlick, of 2280 Rosewood Drive.

Ruth M. Wooden, of 37 San Francisco Boulevard, Brisbane, an incumbent, has filed in the Brisbane School District.

Mrs. Forrester, a Daly City resident eight years, has been active in school and community affairs.

"The effectiveness of the school system depends largely upon the adequacy of its financing support and the wisdom with which the finances are managed," Mrs. Forrester said.

She pointed out that the "local taxpayer has reached his financial limitation with a district budget of over $9 million expended to educate less than 10,000 children."

Priorities of expenditure should be established, she said.

Mrs. Forrester said teachers, administrators and public officials should be held accountable for fulfillment of their responsi-

$25,000 Taken

A steely-nerved gunman held up a Daly City supermarket on Saturday morning in view of hundreds of weekend shoppers and calmly walked out of the store with an estimated $25,000.

The man was armed with a .45 caliber automatic, witnesses told police.

At approximately 9:40 a.m. the suspect walked into the store and forced two Westlake Foods Store employes to open the safe located in the front of the building.

Several store employes and hundreds of shoppers waiting in long lines to pay for their purchases looked on helplessly. After grabbing the money the man strode out of the store past employes and shoppers and climbed into a car. Within minutes after the holdup a police detailled by Sgt. Richard Seguine found the abandoned car on the opposite side of the Westlake Shopping Center.

HARD WORK is ahead for these volunteer workers at Linda Mar Beach yesterday as they carry disabled birds from the thick oil washed up by the tide.

picked up at Rockaway and Sharp Park beaches also, but Linda Mar took the major part of the spill.

That the reaction was as fast as it was can be attributed to some early walkers at Linda Mar. Frank deJarnatt, 860 Montezuma, Rockaway, said he arrived for his usual morning walk a little before 7 a.m. and was met by an unidentified young girl who already was picking up oil-soaked birds.

When he saw what had happened, deJarnatt returned home and took back some boxes, some of which were used all day. Mrs. deJarnatt, a school nurse at Colma Intermediate School, soon spread the word further.

The Humane Society was notified at around 8 a.m.

As of yesterday afternoon there had been no reports of seals or sea lions being mired down in the ooze along the San Mateo County coastline.

Cab Driver Is Robbed

For the second time in a week a Veterans Cab has been hijacked by a passenger, its driver robbed and the cab abandoned on Capitol Avenue in San Francisco.

The latest incident involved a Veteran's Cab driven by Steve Meisenbach.

Meisenbach told Daly City police he was driving a fare along Peoria Avenue when the man brandished a gun and robbed him of $30.

Police recovered the vehicle later on Capitol Avenue across the county line.

A similar incident took place in San Francisco last Friday morning, police said.

In another incident, an armed gunman held up the Towne Motel at 3211 Geneva Avenue, Daly City, Sunday and fled with $100.

Police said the suspect walked into the motel shortly after midnight and forced a clerk on duty to hand over the cash, police said. The clerk was not identified.

Fireman Promoted

Captain James (Babe) Evans, 36, a Pacifica fireman since 1958, will become assistant chief February 1.

Evans, the city's fire inspector, will succeed Ken Donohue, who has resigned to become Ukiah fire chief.

Evans, a native of Iowa, was a volunteer fireman for two years before serving with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers between 1954 and 1957.

He was promoted to captain in 1965.

Evans holds an AA Degree in fire science from the College of San Mateo and has completed a number of courses in fire fighting, rescue work and investigation.

She is past president of the American Pharmaceutical Student Wives' Association of the University of California Medical Center.

Two South San Francisco Unified School District incumbents have announced their intent to seek re-election.

Dr. Bill Starmer and Robert Craig announced a joint candidacy for the April 20 election.

Starmer, a dentist and longtime South San Francisco resident, has been a board member four years.

He called Craig "one of the most highly qualified candidates" he has known.

Craig holds a doctorate in education and is known for his work in vocational-technical education.

"We have a mutual concern that the welfare of the children should be the first priority of the children in the district," Craig said.

At least one other Pacifican has announced an intent to compete for a Jefferson High District board seat.

Ruth Boudinot, a former Laguna Salada trustee who served three terms as chairman, said she wants to further Jim Cooper's representation of the Pacifica and San Bruno areas."

Cooper, who has been ill much of the past two years and unable to attend board meetings, will not seek re-election.

"I feel my lengthy service as a Laguna Salada trustee has provided valuable educational experience with the academic, personnel and financial problems of school districts, especially fast-growing and impoverished ones," Mrs. Boudinot said.

Mrs. Boudinot's husband, Henry is an inspector with the Army's Inspector General's field office in Oakland.

through his office. He is claiming the defendants "wilfully, maliciously and without just cause" prepared statements and documents "with the intention of humuliating plaintiff (Long)."

Long further charged Wycoff of doing it for his own political gain. "He told you for two months about his high ideals. Then he turns out to be a leading candidate. Their (recall committee) whole intention was to get someone into office," charged Long.

Wycoff said he would have to "see what it is all about" before he could comment. He added, however, that it appeared to be "just another attempt to evade the issue of their act (the appointment of the city manager."

Mobley commented that "he (Long) will do anything to keep it (the recall election) from the people."

The suit comes on the heals of a threatened suit by Mayor Neil Christal against Mobley.

In a letter to Mobley, dated January 11, Christal said he would "most assuredly institute suit for libel," for "putting forth to the public an implication of a crime on my part."

The mayor was making reference to a recall poster which encourages voters to "Demand Honest Government." He says the poster is a direct implication of a crime by inference of dishonesty, therefore libelous. This poster is part of Long's suit.

Mobley responded to Christal's letter with a letter of his own, dated January 17. In it, he said, "We (of the recall movement) are not aware of any criminal dishonesty on your part in connection with the recall issue."

Mobley said the recall committee has no intention of not circulating the recall posters.

A Meeting for Senior Citizens

San Bruno Councilman Dick Griffith will hold an "ombudsman for senior citizens" meeting at 2 p.m. Saturday in the San Bruno library basement auditorium.

Informal discussions of new and old municipal programs affecting the interests of those on fixed incomes will be held.

Councilman Griffith said his recent proposal to provide relief from sidewalk repair charges will be thoroughly discussed.

Fact-Finding Plan By Trustees in SSF

South San Francisco Unified School District Trustees have selected fact finding as the only means for solving persistent disagreements.

The district's Certificated Employee Council (CEC), which has been in persistent disagreement with the trustees, have protested the move.

Barbara Olds, chairman of the CEC, said, "It is inconceivable that this board would not want to utilize every avenue available to resolve problems." She suggested mediation and fact-finding as two ways "firmly established in American tradition" to resolve differences.

Mrs. Olds said mediation was the faster method, and would cost the district nothing. She said fact-finding was provided by state law, but was slower and costly. According to her, it also could become necessary as a final resort should mediation fail to resolve a particular problem.

"We think the public should be concerned with the board's action because it is being told that the district is financially strapped. Then the board turns around and refuses to use non-cost mediation and insists that only the more-costly fact-finding process is to be used," said Mrs. Olds.

According to a release by the district, "The board acted on the advice of the California School Boards Association and the recommendation of the administration."

Retirement in June

San Bruno Park School District Supt. George Lawry plans to retire in June. He is the district's third superintendent.

Lawry, who has served as chief administrator since 1959, said he is going "to join the ever-growing army of retired senior citizens."

A special board meeting is scheduled for January 25 to discuss possible recruitment of a replacement.

Lawry came to the district as a principal in 1946. He was appointed director of business administration in 1953, and held that position until being named superintendent.

LSSD Offers to Become Guinea Pig on Vouchers

Pacifica's Laguna Salada School District has offered to become a five-year guinea pig for an experimental voucher system to finance kindergarten-eighth grade education.

The district has proposed special state legislation to allow the district's plan to Governor Ronald Reagan, Assemblyman Leo Ryan, Senator Arlen F. Gregorio and State Supt. of Public Instruction Wilson Riles.

District Supt. James Brien admitted many details have yet to be completed, but anticipates "serious consideration of our plan" because of the strong interest expressed by the governor and Ryan.

Brien said he and his board of trustees believe the program "can be feasible in our district as long as the following principles are accepted as the basis of the project, and maintained during its duration:"

—The current local tax rate for elementary education in the Laguna Salada district be equal to or above the average of elementary school districts in San Mateo County.

—The voucher payment by the state to LSSD be equal to the difference between what the local tax rate will raise and the average amount spent in San Mateo County for the education of a public in grades K-8.

—The school calendar for the year be equal to the number of days of operation by San Mateo County schools, and class size be equal to or below the average San Mateo County class size.

—The salary schedules for employees be equal to or above the average salary paid to school district employees of San Mateo County in similar categories of employment, and provisions be made, through special legislation for other cooperating schools—public or private—to accept students with LSSD vouchers.

San Mateo Elderly Suffering, Charges Medical Society

Elderly Medicare patients in San Mateo County have been suffering "financial disaster" at times because of administrative delays in extended care benefits, according to the San Mateo County Medical Society.

Dr. James R. Hansen of Burlingame, Society president, called the conditions "intolerable and inexcusable" and said the medical society would seek immediate correction of these.

The society board of directors has informed Congressman Paul N. McCloskey, Jr. (R-Portola Valley) about what it considers "the chaotic conditions" that prevail in Medicare's extended care benefits.

The primary source of the delays, according to the society, is Blue Cross, the insurance company which serves as agent or "fiscal intermediary" for the federal government in paying Medicare claims.

Dr. Hansen said Blue Cross often waits 30 to 90 days after a patient has been admitted to an extended care facility before issuing notice that he isn't eligible for benefits. This "retroactive denial" means the patient must pay somehow for services already received, Hansen went on.

Medicare provides up to 100 days of extended care service to patients eligible for Social Security benefits. This includes patients who need some sort of round-the-clock nursing care but not the services of an acute hospital, Hansen explained.

These administrative delays and resultant hardships don't follow the intent of the Medicare program, Hansen said, and the society plans to make specific proposals for changes.

The Blue Cross denials of benefits stem from its use of a physician's judgment about the validity of a claim, even though the physician isn't familiar with the patient's needs. The services are recommended by the patient's physician and a team of other medical men required by Medicare to concur, Hansen pointed out.

This, however, won't be the issue, Hansen said, but rather the need to eliminate the delays that create such hardships.

40 Officers Quell S.S.F. Disturbance

A teen-age fracas Saturday night at South San Francisco's El Camino High School necessitated the calling of 40 officers from six police agencies to quell the disturbance.

Police said two youths, both South San Francisco juveniles, were arrested for disturbing the peace. They were released to the custody of their parents. Juvenile proceedins on the charges will be taken up later, police said.

According to police, large scale fighting between youths of different schools erupted at the close of a dance being held to benefit a South San Francisco youth who was selected as a foreign exchange student.

Police said approximately 400 youths were at the scene, but only about 50 were involved in the fighting. Police said they had a difficult time quelling the disturbance because the instigating youths would retreat in and out of the crowd of nonparticipating youths, attempting to provoke a riot and attacks on the officers at the scene.

The incident happened shortly after midnight. Police said the dance was sponsored by a church teen club and was not connected with any school activity.

Two off-duty South San Francisco officers acting as chaperones called for the aid. In addition to all available South San Francisco officers, aid came from the California Highway Patrol, the County Sheriff's Department and policemen from Broadmoor, Daly City, San Bruno and Brisbane.

MRS. MARIA LUNA

D.C. Mother to State Post

State Senator Arlen Gregorio (Dem.-San Mateo) Friday announced that he has appointed Mrs. Maria Luna to the Democratic Party State Central Committee.

Mrs. Luna, a resident of Daly City, is the mother of four children. She is on the Board of Directors of the San Mateo County legal Aid Society and President of the Association Cultural Mexicana. Born in Mexico, Mrs. Luna became a United States citizen last year. Mrs. Luna is a full time student at Skyline College, where she is taking a pre-law curriculum.

Coast Couple Held Up

A young Pacifica housewife was held at gunpoint while two men ransacked her home and waited for her husband to return from work to open a safe Friday afternoon.

The robbers forced their way into the William Rounds residence in the Fairmont area of Pacifica at 3:45 p.m., according to police.

They located a safe after ransacking the house, holding 28-year-old Mrs. Kerstin Rounds at gunpoint.

But Mrs. Rounds was unable to open the safe and the robbers, reportedly in their late 20's, waited for Rounds, 33, a building trades painter, to return home from work.

Rounds was forced to open the safe, from which a silver dollar collection valued in excess of $1,000 was taken, police said.

The suspects bound the Rounds with silk stockings before fleeing in the Rounds' car, which had been in the garage.

Police later found the car in the Pacific Manor region of Pacifica.

Neither victim was hurt.

At least three home robberies have been reported to police in Pacifica in the last six months, authorities confirmed. There appears to be no connection, police said.

Fire Hits Coast Home

Fire raged through an empty Pacifica Highlands residence Sunday in Pacifica.

The 9:05 p.m. blaze gutted the interior of the 252 Cavangaugh Street structure, owned by Doris Reagon of Corpus Christi, Tex.

ALEX FRASER

JUHSD Says It Plans to Oust Teacl

The Jefferson Union High School District has dismissed a nine-year Oceana High School English teacher and former teacher association president on the basis of disorderly conduct charges filed by Pacifica police in December.

Alexander Fraser, a Pacifica resident, was suspended without pay by trustees of the district Tuesday night.

District Supt. Edward Morgan had suspended Fraser with pay previously.

The trustees approved a resoluion stating their intent to fire Fraser on charges of "immoral conduct" and "evident unfitness for service."

Trustee John Sloane voted "no," and James Cooper was absent.

Fraser, former president of the the Jefferson Union High School District Teacher's Association and active in certificated council affairs, was arrested by Pacifica police on a disorderly conduct charge at 4:20 a.m., December 19, the resolution pointed out.

Fraser, according to the Jefferson district resolution, was incoherent, conducted himself in a disorderly manner and at the time admitted to being under influence of LSD. Fraser has 30 days in which to appeal to the Superior Court.

JC District Board Session On Campus Cutback Today

The prospect of having to shut down Canada and Skyline Colleges, and deny educational opportunity to 10,000 students a year, will be discussed tonight at a special study meeting of the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees.

Anticipating a large turnout, the trustees will hold their session in the choral room at College of San Mateo at 7:30 p.m.

CARL E. WARD, a San Mateo Junior College trustee (left) purchases pair of $10 tickets for the January 28 benefit dinner to raise funds of the district's emergency tax election. Skyline co-ed Jan Hallmark and Skyline student president Dennis Arreola remided that dinner will be held at CSM campus in San Mateo.

They got their first look at what Chancellor Clifford G. Erickson termed "the sober, frightening specter of future reality at a regular board meeting a week ago.

Erickson handed members of the governing body two faculty and staff "task force" reports dealing with the potential impact of a forced district return to the 35-cent statutory taxing limit established in 1937, if the local junior colleges' emergency election proposal fails at the polls on March 2.

These "dispassionate, analytical studies," he said, "make one point eminently clear: Beginning next fall, there could be no continuation of anything remotely resembling the present scope of college services, or remotely resembling present enrollments, at a 35-cent tax rate.

"It would not be tightening the belt," he said, "it would be tightening a noose."

Trustees are asking the voters to approve retention of a three-year, 12-cent increase in the tax limit which will expire in June, and to further raise the ceiling by 11 cents.

Unless the voters say "yes," the task force studies indicate, district income for the coming fiscal year, which begins in July, would plummet to a level roughly $4½ million a year below what is needed to maintain existing programs and services, and to absorb growing enrollments.

To survive even temporarily at that level — eating p all at that level — eating up all be exhausted in, at most, two years — the district would have to:

1. Close the two newest, smallest colleges (Canada and Skyline) — either completely or use them only for a few scattered classes.
2. Consolidate educational activities at College of San Mateo, perhaps on a three-shift basis which could serve roughly 17,000 day and night students — approximately 10,000 less than next fall's projected normal enrollment total.
3. Terminate employment of some 60 full-time and 350 part-time teachers, and make "wholesale cuts" in clerical, buildings and grounds, and administrative positions.
4. Freeze all salaries at current levels.

S.S.F. Hotel Tax Raise Sought

Operators of five large hotels in South San Francisco say they can promote the city with an increase of one per cent on the hotel-motel tax.

Councilmen have asked the hotel operators to submit facts, figures and specific plans before any action is taken.

The gist of the proposal as outlined by Fred Rapp of the Holiday Inn is that an increase of one per cent would raise an additional $40,000 annually which would be used by the hotel people to promote the city.

As it now stands, the city uses the money from the present four per cent hotel-motel tax for city-wide beautification.

Rapp said the money would be spent with full council veto power. He outlined a tentative plan that called for highway billboards and brochures.

Councilman Warren Steinkamp voiced concern that the proposal might result only in a promotion of the larger hotels on Airport Boulevard, to the detriment of the smaller facilities that don't pay as high a hotel-motel tax, or other businesses.

Rapp said the larger hotels would send the smaller hotels referrals.

City Attorney John Noonan said promotional programs should go through the chamber of commerce. He said it would be unwise for the councilmen to allocate that amount of money on a "general" presentation.

Other hotels favoring Rapp's proposal are the International Inn, the Royal Inn, Imperial 400 and the new Rodeway Inn.

Mayor Patrick Ahern said the council is interested in promoting the city, and that Rapp's proposal may have merit, if pursued more thoroughly.

S.S.F. Won't Join in Water Plans

South San Francisco councilmen were briefed Wednesday night on updated requirements of the Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWQCB) regarding discharging of wastes.

Councilmen were concerned about a recent RWQCB requirement that South San Francisco join in a coordinated subregional water quality control program with Millbrae, Burlingame and Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement District.

Consultant John Jenks, of the firm of Jenks and Adamson, assured the councilmen that what the RWQCB intended was a study of the feasibility of a joint disposal system.

He said he would include the fact that such a proposed system would not be feasible in a report he is now preparing. The report is due March 1. The report also is necessary in order for South San Francisco (and treatment plant partner San Bruno) to receive federal and state grants.

The passage of the Clean Water Bond Act of 1970 requires that a re-evaluation be made of community wastewater treatment and disposal needs. There is a potential of up to 80 per cent federal-state participation toward construction of such facilities.

An "interim basin plan" for water quality management is to be presented to the State Board and Federal Water Quality Administration by July 1. These plans must first be adopted by each respective regional board by June 1.

"The importance of the interim plan cannot be overemphasized," Jenks said "Once it is established, it will serve as the primary guide in respect to allocating the grants.

"A project which may be required during the next few years, but which is not noted in the Basin Plan will find it especially difficult to obtain state and federal grant monies," Jenks added.

The consultant has listed a joint-use outfall, and treatment plant enlargments, totaling an estimated $4 million, for use by South San Francisco-San Bruno, S. F. International Airport and Merck Chemical Company in a summary he prepared of probable projects in the Bay Area.

In the same listing, which goes, to the RWQCB, Jenks listed a $2 million joint-use outfall for Burlingame-Millbrae, and treatment plant enlargements, or connection to San Francisco, for the Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement District, at $600,000.

Treatment plant enlargements for the North San Mateo County Sanitation District were listed at an estimated cost of $5 million. This project need was estimated for fiscal 1974-75. Both the Burlingame-Millbrae and Guadalupe Valley projects have a 1973-74 estimated need. And the South San Francisco-San Bruno project need is listed for fiscal 1971-72.

Two Injured in Accident

A head-on collision on Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco early Thursday morning hospitalized two, and resulted in the arrest of one driver.

Police arrested Robert Saunders, 35, of Santa Cruz for felony drunk driving. Saunders was treated at Chope Memorial Hospital, San Mateo, for a leg injury.

Also hospitalized was Mrs. Josephine Houston, 33, of 451 Northhaven Drive, Daly City. She was treated for face and arm injuries at Kaiser Hospital.

Police said the vehicle driven by Mrs. Houston was struck head-on by the car driven by Saunders. Tht accident happened at 2:30 a.m. in the northbound lane, near the railroad overpass.

THE REV. AND MRS. Michael E. Grimshaw, evangelists, will conduct services at 7:30 p.m. each day, January 19-24 at the Church of the Nazarene, Washington and Edgeworth Streets, in unincorporated Colma. Reverend Grimshaw has served as pastor of an American congregation in Germany and conducted evangelistic services in Italy. Mrs. Grimshaw is a pianist and organist, who has taught in the U.S. military school system in Okinawa and Germany.

A 'Decision' Topic Chosen at Westside

Pastor David Donnelly's Sunday morning message at the Westside Baptist Church will be "An Unparalleled Decision" at 10:55 a.m.

The pastor's sermon at the Family Fellowship Gospel hour at 7 p.m., when ordinance of baptism will be observed, will be "Assurance of Provision."

Per Hillerstrom will lead congregational singing.

Four youth groups will meet at 6 p.m. They are the primary Eager-Beavers, the Junior Astronauts, and the junior and senior high groups.

A pastor's class for youth and adults is being conducted at the same hour.

Sunday School teachers and officers will meet with assistant Sunday School superintendent Altan Swedberg at 7:30 p.m., January 25.

The Women's Bible student group will meet at 10 a.m. January 26.

Primary, Junior and Senior High GMG groups will meet at 7:30 p.m. January 27, as will adult and youth Bible study and prayer groups.

The church is at 390 Inverness Drive, Pacifica.

Colma Temple Adds Services

In addition to Friday services which begin at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday services which begin at 10 a.m., Congregation B'nai Israel now conducts Mincha and Maariv services on Saturdays at 4:20 p.m.

Rabbi Erwin S. Ruch and Cantor Julius Blackman officiate at the Daly City Colma temple's rites.

DANCE CLASSES

Classes in Hatha Yoga and Bellydancing are now being offered by The Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center, 655 Brotherhood Way, beginning February 3rd.

Morgan-Carson Nuptials

At home in Belmont from their Lake Tahoe honeymoon are Christopher "Kit" Carson and his bride, the former Suzanne Margaret Morgan.

The newlyweds, who exchanged vows at St. Bruno's Church in San Bruno, are the respective children of John Chan of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carson of Burlingame. After their wedding, a reception followed in the Sir Pellimore Room of the Royal Coach Motor Hotel.

Suzanne recited her vows in an Empire floorlength gown detailed at the waist with a lace bow.

Long yellow Empire gowns with puffed sleeves and organza and nylon embroidery from the waist down were worn by all the attendants. Barbara Jean Chan was her sister's maid of honor and briddsmaid duties were performed by Mary Ann Stickney of San Mateo. Mary Carson, the bridegroom's sister, served as flower girl.

Best man for the benedict was Thomas Carew of San Francisco and guests were seated by Mark Plimley of San Mateo.

THE KIT CARSONS (Suzanne Morgan)

Suzanne was educated at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park and the College of San Mateo. Also a CSM alumnus, Kit attended Serra High School. He is a traffic control officer for the San Bruno Police Department.

Newcomers Slate Lunch Meeting

Mrs. Earl Gagnier, newly elected president of the Millbrae Newcomers Club, will conduct the meeting following the group's luncheon on January 21 at Russo's in San Bruno. A social hour at 11:30 a.m. will precede the 12:30 meal.

Louise Fletcher, a home economist for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, will present the program.

New members of the club are Mesdames Keith Batger, Kurt Wasserman, Marvin Sugarman, Louis Grech, Lewis Sultan, Thomas Trimble, and Jody Rea.

The board will meet on January 19 at the home of Mrs. Morris Petersen, 420 Richmond Drive, Millbrae.

Interested women who have lived in Millbrae less than one year may contact Mrs. Henry Ascher, club representative.

All Souls Clubwomen Set Lunch-Style Show Benefit

"Command Performance" is the title of the annual luncheon and fashion show All Souls Women's Club will present February 6 at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel.

Mrs. Charles Cox and Mrs. Robert Kennealy are co-chairmen of the noon event which will take place in the hotel's King Arthur Banquet Room.

Modeling contemporary styles from McDonald's in Serramonte will be the following women parishoners: Mesdames Fidel Realvasquez, John Oberest, Anthony Valencia, Al Martin, Al Deidrick, Giulio Cerquettini, Gene Neville and Ronald Sciandri. Rosemarie Fuhrman will commentate.

Reservations may be made at the rectory on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. or on every Wednesday from 10 a.m. until noon.

Mrs. Adam Wozniak and Mrs. James Stave are reservations chairmen and Mrs. Carlo Giusti and Mrs. Joseph Armanino are handling decorations and special awards, respectively.

Proceeds from the event will benefit All Souls Building Fund.

Millbrae Club's Rummage Sale

Past presidents and charter members of the Millbrae Woman's Club were honored at a Founder's Day luncheon Tuesdy at the Green Hills Country Club.

The club will sponsor a rummage sale on January 28 and 29 at St. Dunstan's Hall in Millbrae.

Style Show, Luncheon

Alpha to Omega, the fashion show-luncheon being sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women will feature all manner of things that range from alluring attire to Eddie Harkness's orchestra, according to Mrs. Francis Kelly the Our Lady of Mercy group in Daly City.

Members of the event's executive committee are enthusiastic about the styles for spring that Peck and Peck of Stonestown have provided for the showing.

The models are Mrs. Peter Balestrieri, Mrs. John Bauer, Mrs. Joan Bargioni, Mrs. Julian Fernando, Mrs. Richard Galliani, Mrs. Harry Kanelopoulos, Mrs. Frank Machi, Mrs. Eugene Machi, Mrs. James McCann, Mrs. James Murray, Mrs. William Noonan, Mrs. Gerald Pult, Mrs. Donald Tarantino, Mrs. Robert Viglizzo, Sue Grealish and, this year's Miss San Francisco, Susan Walsh. They have all been enjoying the fitting sessions at the new store in San Francisco.

High school models Maureen Daly, Renee Del Bucchia, Leslie Moulton and Colleen Murray, have been having a field day among the exciting styles and luscious colors, according to Mrs. Kelly.

Members of the parish and all their friends have been invited to attend the January 30 show which will begin with no-host cocktails in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel at 11 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon and guests can dine on Capon and Coupe Brazil while they are serenaded by the strolling violinists from Harkness's orchestra.

Investment tickets and reservations are on sale and anyone interested is asked to contact Mrs. William Schou, Mrs. Tenney Campbell or Mrs. Richard Mudge.

Members of the parish who have sold tickets are asked to turn in their stubs to Mrs. Mudge as soon as possible, Mrs. Kelly stated.

Thoughts of spring fashions brings to mind the approaching vacation season and travel plans are in the making once again.

It will be back to Europe for Mr. and Mrs. Hal Fox of Daly City who have signed up for another stint as counselors for the Foreign Study League.

Doris and Hal are still raving about the marvelous time they had last summer doing five countries in six weeks while they accompanied 19 students.

This year, the agenda calls for stops in France, Switzerland, Germany, Netherlands and England and any students accompanying the Foxes will receive high school or college units, since the league is fully accredited.

Any students interested in finding out more about the Fox's tour may call 756-3174.

Louanne Heath's Datebook

GREAT DECISIONS—1971, a series of lectures planned by the League of Women Voters and the YWCA, is scheduled to begin the first week of February, according to Mrs. Barbara Reich, publicity chairman for the San Mateo County YWCA.

Plans call for the lectures to be open to all interested persons and they will provide an opportunity to learn and speak out on vital issues of foreign policy.

The program will begin with a lecture on February 2 in the Sharp Park library in Pacifica and on February 4 at the Westlake Community Baptist Church in Daly City and the St. Thomas Lutheran Church in San Bruno. The sessions will run for eight consecutive weeks.

Mrs. Reich reports that advance enrollment is requested for this particular series so everyone interested in attending or for more information about the classes, call 756-7370 or drop by the YWCA office at 375 South Mayfair, in the Westlake Shopping Center.

MRS. MARY DIEHL will be installed the president of the Pacifica Chapter of the Native Daughters of the Golden West during ceremonies to be held today at Nick's in Rockaway.

The group, which is open to all native daughters of California whose families came here during the formative years of our state, meets the first and third Mondays of each month. For information about membership call Mrs. Diehl or Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan.

Localities were saddened last week by the death of Jean Loeffler of Pacifica.

Mrs. Loeffler was the wife of the popular band instructor at Westmoor High School, Howard Loeffler. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Loeffler leaves a son, Peter and a daughter, Nancy.

North County Duo Exchanges Vows

The Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco was the setting for the recent marriage of Esther Lea Lipchiz of Daly City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lipchiz of Santa Monica, and Robert Stanley Aronson of South San Francisco, son of Louis Aronson of Minneapolis and the late Mrs. Aronson.

Mrs. Lawrence Lipchiz served her sister-in-law as matron of honor and Charles Aronson, brother of the bridegroom, performed best man duties. Lawrence Lipchiz, the bride's brother, seated guests with Robert Goldman.

After greeting guests at the reception which followed in the hotel, the couple departed for a motor trip through southern California. Upon return, they will live in Daly City.

Rummage Sale by Drug Abuse Unit

The Jefferson Council of PTA's Drug Abuse Committee will hold a rummage sale January 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., in the multi-use room of Frnaklin D. Roosevelt school, 1200 Skyline Drive.

Proceeds will be used to purchase adult materials to be distributed throughout the district. A large variety of materials is needed to help educate parents and to let them know were they can go for help.

Usable items may be taken to the school's multi-use room Friday, between 2:35 and 9 p.m.

Kenneth Kirkland Claims Bride in Italian Ceremony

Palazzo Vecchio in Florence, Italy was the setting for the recent marriage of Janet Moore of Atlanta, Ga. and Kenneth Kirkland of Pacifica.

The couple, who honeymooned on the Adriatic coast of Yugoslavia, will live in Florence until September when they will return to complete their graduate studies at the University of Michigan.

Janet is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Raymond C. Moore of Atlanta and Kenneth's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace I. Kirkland of Pacifica.

The new matron attended College Park High School in Atlanta and earned her bachelor of arts degree from Wheaton College. She is now working towards her masters in social work. Mrs. Edwin Johnson of Bloomington, Ind. is her sister.

At present Kenneth is doing research in Italy for his doctorate thesis in modern Italian history. A Ford Foundation fellow, he received his masters from the University of Oregon. The bridegroom studied locally at Terra Nova High School and Stanford University. He is the brother of Jane Kirkland, a student at the University of California School of Law in Davis, and Nancy Kirkland, a Chico State College student.

Dr Green Will Talk to Friends Of DC Library

Dr. Harry B. Green, professor emeritus of San Francisco State College, will speak to the friends of the Daly City library at 8 p.m. January 28 in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library, Southgate Avenue.

Dr. Green, who has received degrees from California, Columbia, and Stanford universities, has co-authored two books. One of them, The Visual Arts, is a required text in more than 30 colleges throughout the country.

His talk, "from Bybles to Now," will trace the earliest beginning of books. It is the culmination of two of his hobbies, that of collecting lost cities during his world-wide travels and putting them into book bindings of his own making.

His hobby of hand bookbinding has resulted in his becoming a professional bookbinder, and he teaches this almost lost art.

A long time resident of Westlake and a member of the friends of the Daly City Library, Dr. Green is well known for the lively manner in which he presents his talks.

Counselors at SHS Meeting

The Serramonte High School Association will present the second in a series of monthly "open discussion formats" for the academic departments of Serramonte High School.

The counseling department will be the topic at 8 p.m., January 27 in the faculty room.

Mrs. Laurie Cahill, vice-principal-counseling and guidance, Lloyd Silberstein, Mrs. Cecelia LaForge, Mrs. Margaret Rueckers and Byron Chan will participate.

The meeting is open to the public.

JEFFERSON SCENE

By SUE McALLISTER and KAREN FOSTER

Jeff's administration is preparing for spring semester registration to help each student to understand this system and to allow him to pick his own classes. Jeff uses self-registration, initiated last year.

Improvements have been inserted into the system.

Seniors originally registered first, A-M, N-Z; Juniors, A-M, N-Z; Sophomores, A-M, N-Z; and Freshmen, A-M, N-Z. Last year the alphabetical order was reversed; many students requested classes that were filled.

The freshmen were already programmed, and the sophomores went last and ran into the trouble.

Now, all students pick a number and will register according to that ranking.

Under the new system, student aides are a valuable part of registration. They register students into the classes. Student aides also are needed to experience some of the headaches of fitting students into classes.

This registration method will prepare pupils for either the college or the job world, where they must make their own decisions.

Another experiment has been conducted.

Student government has become a class.

Some might call it a revolution, because under the new constitution a junior is allowed to become student president of his school.

Those hard-working students accomplished more for their school than the old system ever hoped to. Successful Homecoming, KYA game, accreditations, elections, rallies, and many other exciting activities.

This type of class will continue with the new Student Body and class officers:

Vita Hillman was elected as Jefferson High School President; Julie Solomon, vice-president; Sue Chervellera, secretary; Aileen Flores, treasurer; Kasy Clements; commissioner of publicity, Sue McAllister, commissiion of communications; Alex Senica; senior class president, Doug Harrison; vice-president, Joan Tuckerman; secretary, Karen Foster; treasurer, Pat Francisco; junior class president, Margine Sako; vice-president, Janet Morris; treasurer, Kathleen Dale; sophomore class president, Eddie Elauria vice-president, Mark Molina; secretary, Pam Passaglia; treasurer, Lori Sako; freshman class president, Virginia Cordon; vice-president, Rosalie Lindsey; treasurer, Cath Damoto.

Coast Queen Deadline Is 9 Days Away

Only nine days remain for interested Pacifica girls to enter the 1971 Miss Pacifica Pagenat.

The annual affair will be held April 24 at Terra Nova High School, sponsored by the Scenic Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

A contestant must be between the ages of 18 and 28 as of September 1, 1971, a high school graduate as of then and a resident of Pacifica.

Competition will be judged according to the guidelines of the Miss California and Miss America Pageants, of which the local activity is an official preliminary.

Talent designates 50 per cent of the judging while evening gown competition and swimsuit competition each carry 25 per cent.

The Miss Pacifica pageant theme this year will be "Nothin's New" and will feature the Jack Fisher Orchestra of the Miss California Pageant; the Benny Smith dancers, the choreographer of both the Miss California and Miss America Pageants; popular emcee Fred LaCosse; and Sue Anton, Miss California of 1969.

The theme will center around the fact that the Mod tendencies and attitudes of the youth of today is "Nothin's New," because the changes in styles and the like are merely repeating yester-year.

This will be the fifteenth annual Miss Pacifica Pageant, and all former reigning queens will be invited to participate.

Prospective entrants are urged to get their applications in by the deadline of January 29 at 5 p.m., so they will be eligible to compete for the $500 scholarship to be awarded the winner.

Rockie Montenegro Terra Nova Topics

SEVEN HOURS of film viewing, food, dancing, movie-making, white elephant auctioning, and surprises await film club members this Friday night in the form of the Film Club Fund Raising Ball that will take place in the TN cafetorium from 6 p.m.-1 a.m.

The purpose of the Ball is to raise money for a needy charity, and have the most fun possible while doing it. All proceeds from this event will go directly to Fleishacker Rehabilitation Center for the handicapped.

Dress will be salvation-army type formal — kids will wear funky old-time evening clothes, and the dancing will be to '30's music and waltzes.

The evening will start with a big pot-luck banquet. Four-and-a-half hours of movies will follow, and will include clips from old horror favorites: "Bride of Frankenstein," "Dracula," "The Lost World," "The Mummy," "Dr. Cyclops," "The Incredible Shrinking Man," and "It came from Outerspace." Also to be shown: Flash Gordon in "Deadline at Noon," Laurel and Hardy, Elmer Fudd, Road Runner, and Bugs Bunny cartoons, and the special midnight feature, "Queen of the Amazons."

This will be supplemented by two hours of live entertainment, dime-a-dance-girls, step-in, on the spot movies, auctioning of goodies (each guest must bring a wrapped gift to auction), super-secret surprises, door prizes, and the exciting climax —The election of the "Evening Star."

TN'S ECOLOGY-MINDED science club members, Cheryl Peterson, Denise Buckley, Sue Combs, and Karen Dittman, did their part to "Save the ecology" when they produced their own non-polutant soap for a club project.

With the Sanchez Library as their reference source, they found a recipe for old-fashion lye soap, and proceeded to make the necessary preparations for production. Their first attempts were successful, and the project was repeated during an activity-period science club meeting, with all members participating.

Ingredients for the soap consisted of lard and lye. Although not as refined as the commercial soap, their product lacks the polluting phosphates and NTA.

The science club, with its large and enthusiastic following, will also host a wide variety of activities in the fields of chemistry, biology, astronomy, and photography.

Jr. Achievement Trade Fair Set

A Junior Achievement Trade Fair will be held at the Serramonte Shopping Center January 29-31.

The hours: January 29, 4-9 p.m.; January 30, 10 a.m. 5 p.m.; January 31, noon to 5 p.m.

About 70 Junior Achievement companies will display for sale the products that active young people manufactured last year. Nearly 1,000 teens will participate.

Junior Achievement is the corporation that fosters free enterprise among high school students, helping them understand the business world complexities.

The concept of Junior Achievement, a business-sponsored economics program with a "learn by doing" flavor, goes back to 1919 when Horace A. Moses, a Massachusetts paper company executive, decided that urban youngsters could profit from a business experience similar to that enjoyed by youths through 4-H.

From that simple beginning has grown a program which today covers more than 130,000 youths in the United States and 7 foreign countries.

The boys and girls organize their companies, select and manufacture a product, raise capital and market what they themselves produce. They borrow from stockholders and banks and keep books. It is business and economics all rolled into an eight-month plan of action and decision.

WCW Style Show Models are Selected

Models for the Westlake Catholic Women's seventeenth annual fashion show and luncheon, "Alpha to Omega," January 30 have been chosen, Mrs. Francis V. Clifford, chairman, announced this week.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Fancy cooking is fun and I'm sure many of us have spent happy hours working out a complicated and exotic recipe. However there are times when what we want is a dish that is truly "quick an' easy," here is just such a dinner.

MEXICALLY FRY

1 pound ground beef
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
2 Tablespoons olive oil
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup chopped onion
2 cans tomato sauce with cheese (8 ounce)
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 can red beans (1 pound size)
1 can whole-kernel corn (12 ounce size)
1 package corn bread mix

Heat the two tablespoons oil in large skillet. Crumble the pound ground meat in hot oil and season with the three-fourths teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon garlic salt. Brown, stirring occasionally. Remove meat from skillet and place the cup each chopped green pepper and onion in skillet. Cook until tender, don't brown. Add the two cans tomato-cheese sauce and one teaspoon chili powder. (NOTE: This amount of chili powder makes a mildly flavored dish. If your family likes it hot, add more chili powder.) Return the browned meat to the skillet along with the can each of red beans and corn (drain both before adding). Cover and simmer for 20 to 25 minutes.

While the simmering is going on, prepare the corn bread mix as directed on package. Bake in square pan. Cut into individual squares, split and serve with a generous amount of Mexically Fry over top. Serves 8.

ALONG WITH THIS DISH I served a tossed green salad. Using this delicious dressing.

MARTINA'S FRENCH DRESSING

¼ cup ketchup
1-3 cup vinegar
2 Tablespoons lemon juice
1 small onion, grated and strained
1½ teaspoons celery salt
½ teaspoon paprika

In small mixing bowl combine the three-fourths cup oil with the one-fourth cup ketchup, one-third cup vinegar, two tablespoons lemon juice, five tablespoons sugar, grated onion, (Grate and then press through a small strainer with a spoon), the one and one-half teaspoons celery salt and one half teaspoon paprika. Mix well. Pour into bottle with cap and store in refrigerator.

I FOUND THIS PRETTY AND DELICIOUS dessert recipe in my files recently. Unfortunately there is no way to give credit to the generous cook who gave it to me as threre was no name on the card. Thanks to the mystery good cook.

FROSTED CINNAMON PEARS

1 can pear halves (1 Lb. 13 ounces)
1 cup sugar
4 Tablespoons red cinnamon candies
2 pints vanilla ice cream

Drain the pears and reserve one cup syrup. Place pears in shallow dish.

In a small saucepan combine the one cup pear syrup with the cup sugar and four tablespoons cinnamon candies. Heat to boil, stirring constantly; then simmer about 3 minutes longer. Pour over pears and chill for several hours.

When ready to serve scoop the ice cream into balls, place in serving dish. Stand the pears around the ege of dish and drizzle some of the sauce over ice cream balls. Serve rest of sauce separately. Serves 6.

LAMB AND RED BEAN GOULASH

1½ pounds lamb stew
1 teaspoon onion salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Flour
2 Tablespoons shortening
2½ cups cooked tomatoes (No. 2 size)
1 green pepper, diced
2½ cups red beans, drained (No. 2 size can)

Cut the lamb into one-inch pieces. Season with the teaspoon onion salt, half teaspoon garlic salt and fourth teaspoon pepper. Roll in flour and brown slowly in the two tablespoons shortening. Add the 2½ cups tomatoes, diced green pepper and cover. Cook slowly for 2 hours.

Drain the can red beans, add to goulash. Heat thoroughly. Serve in soup bowls. Serves 4.

Drop-in Arts and Crafts Program for DC Children

A drop-in arts and crafts program for children will be offered by the Daly City Recreation Division of the Arts and Crafts Center, 101 Peoria.

Jan Neavill is the program director.

The schedule:

Jan. 19-May29 — Tuesdays 3:30-5 p.m. (ages 6 and older); Thursday, 3:30-5 p.m. (ages 6 and older); Friday, 3:30-5 p.m. (ages 6 and older); Saturday, 10-11:30 a.m. (4-5 years old only); 12:30-4 p.m. (ages 6 and older.).

Children should report to the Art Center on the first day of classes January 19, from 3:30-5 p.m. to discuss projects with instructor.

There is no instruction fee.

The division also will sponsor a spring yoga program.

A 10-week session will be from January 18-March 22, 7:30-9 p.m. at Westmoor Park Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Dr.

There is a $5 registration fee. Class size is limited to 25 students and enrollment will be taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Students are requested to send name, address, phone, and fee to the Daly City Recreation Division prior to first class meeting. Registration will not be taken at the classes.

Students should wear loose, comfortable clothing which does not have buttons on the back. A mat or pad is required for added comfort while learning the postures.

Contact Mrs. Tenney Campbell or Mrs. William Schou for reservations.

Horsemen to Collect Cans at Westmoor

Westmoor's Horsemen's Association Club is combining ecology with fun. The club is hoping to collect over a ton of cans so that they may be able to spend a weekend or a week at Highlands Ranch in Mendocino County.

The Club members are collecting the aluminum from other students, faculty members, parks, beaches, and the school grounds.

The students are using the aluminum cans before recycling in an effort to collect $200 per ton.

The Horsemen's Association, with Mrs. Martha Wright as advisor, will also be having other fund raising events, such as, car washes and a horse show in Golden Gate Park.

Club members learn about the different breeds of horses, the types of saddle riding and the various styles of saddles, when they meet each Tuesday or Wednesday.

County's AAUW Presidents Meet

Julian Reinhertz, president of the Pacifica Branch of the American Association of University Women, was hostess to the January meeting of the San Mateo County AAUW Presidents.

Those attending were Mrs. Frank Seebode, president, San Bruno; Mrs. Lowell Brubaker, president, Half Moon Bay; Mrs. H. William Baker, president, and Mrs. John Holko, education chairman, San Mateo; Mrs. Irwin T. Quinn, president, San Carlos; Mrs. G. Kasten Tallmadge, president, and Mrs. George Chaffey, education chairman, Menlo-Atherton; and also from San Carlos, Mrs. Joseph Monroe, California, State Division Education Chairman.

The group decided on a list of priorities for action this spring. All branches are studying the junior college tax rate increase election on March 2.

Continuing action on the county jail facilities, support of the regional park concept, and the inclusion of bike trails in the planning of communities and county also were on the list.

The group decided to compile a booklet on the laws pertaining to mini-bikes and trail bikes, with particular emphasis on juvenile licensing. It was believed that there is a definite need for controls on all off-the-road vehicles.

Mrs. Monroe announced that she had a supply of the state division's pamphlet, "Choosing a School Board Member," and the Branches agreed to help in its distribution to the public.

Mrs. Monroe alerted the group to studies in education which are in progress in the state.

Two Branches, Whittier and Los Altos are studying the Voucher System and the Marin County Branches are investigating educational tenure. These studies will be completed and the California division will be asked to take action on them at the convention this spring in Fresno.

The San Bruno Branch will be sponsoring an Ecology Fair at the Serramonte mall on April 3.

President Mrs. Frank Seebode invited all groups and-or individuals who want to participate to contact her at 910 Laguna Avenue, Burlingame.

MRS. JOHN CHIN and Mrs. Charles Busterna (center) discuss plans for January 23 "International Holiday" with Mrs. Elwin Short of Daly City. "Holiday" will be annual luncheon-entertainment event sponsored by the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women, in the Pacific Room of the Holiday Inn at Fisherman's Wharf. The Lowell High School's ensemble, as well as dances and music of several nations will be on the program.

Exercise Class in San Bruno

The San Bruno Recreation Department is offering an exercise program for adult women at Crestmoor High School. The class will meet on Tuesdays for an eight-week period, between 7 and 9 p.m. Under the leadership of Mrs. Kristine Canonica, the course will include exercises, volleyball and basketball. The attire for the class should be anything in which movement can be made freely.

A registration fee of $7 for the course will b taken at the first class meeting.

DIET COOKING

A six-week course in Gourmet Diet Cooking is being offered by The Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center, 655 Brotherhood Way beginning February 11.

Webster Dad's Night

The Daniel Webster P-TA will present "Dad's Night" today, at 8 p.m., in the school multi-use room.

The program will be presented by the physical education department of Skyline College under the direction of Robert Lualhati. The men and women students will present demonstrations of gymnastics, creative dancing and exercises.

Bruno Jaycees Need Depots

Several new newspaper depots are needed in the San Bruno Jaycee's paper drive set for Jan. 30, according to the project chairman, Vaughn Hansen.

Part of the ecology interest of the local, the Jaycees third effort to collect newsprint needs driveways where San Brunans can drop off their bundles of paper so that only some 30 pick-up points need to be serviced by the Jaycees. Portola Highlands, Lomita Park and Monte Verde are served by only one pick-up volunteer home, and a few more are needed for citizen convenience.

The Jaycees took over this city-wide project in an effort to get more newsprint recycled.

Men's Club to Seat Officers

The Board of Directors of Congregation B'nai Israel and the officers of the Men's Club will be installed at 8 p.m., Saturday.

Albert Polonsky, city attorney of Daly City, will be the installing officer.

Directing activities in the Congregation for 1971 will be: Stanley Fisher, president; Leon Benson, Leonard Arbitter, Alvin Schwarzbach vice-presidents; Arthir LaPedis, treasurer; Mrs. Jerry Klonoff, secretary; George Bilick, Norm Friedeberg, Leonard Mayer, Sam Zelver trustees.

The unveiling of the headstone for the first president of the Congregation, Ernest Hartmann, will be 11:30 a.m., Sunday at Eternal Home Cemetery. Rabbi Erwin S. Ruch will officiate.

RONALD ACCORNERO, SUSAN STOHLTON
Engagement Told

April 3 Wedding Date for Couple

The Millbrae Community Methodist Church has been reserved for a wedding on April 3 by Susan Allene Stohlton and Ronald Steven Accornero.

The couple's betrothal was disclosed yesterday by an open house at the Millbrae home of the future bride's mother, Mrs. Arthur J. Stohlton.

Susan is the daughter of the late Arthur Stohlton and the sister of John B. Stohlton of Monterey. She attended Capuchino High School and was graduated from the College of San Mateo.

Ronald is the son of Mrs. Baldo Accornero of Millbrae and the late Mr. Accornero and is the brother of Dr. Rene Accornero. He attended the College of San Mateo and Notre Dame University.

Susan has asked Mrs. Russel Burbank (Ann Matheson) to be her matron of honor and Mrs. Stephen Bradley (Kathie Daley) to serve as bridesmaid. Dana Stohlton, niece of the bride and Lucy Accornero, niece of the bridegroom, will be flower girls. David Stohlton, nephew of the bride, will be the ring bearer.

The wedding will be followed by a reception at the Green Hills Country Club in Millbrae. The couple plans to honeymoon in Europe.

TWO PACIFICA COUPLES celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries at a party at the home of Pacifica vice mayor Grace McCarthy. Ted and Helen Van Hook (left, above), high school sweethearts in Colorado, were married January 19, 1921. They have been Pacificans since 1923. Sophie and John Vanieff were married January 12, 1921 at Russian Orthodox ceremonies at Vladivostok, Siberia, where they met while fleeing the Russian revolution. They came to the United States in 1923, moving to Pacifica from San Francisco in 1947. (Starr Photo)

Betrothal in N. County Announced

A party on Saturday afternoon at the Daly City home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Duke was the occasion for them to disclose that their daughter, Wanda Lee, is the prospective bride of Joseph Charles Sheehan.

The couple has set a tentative fall wedding.

Wanda is the sister of Denise and Ricky Duke and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mires and the late Mr. and Mrs. William L. Woodard. She was educated at Jefferson High School and Skyline College.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Leo Sheehan of San Francisco and the late Mr. Sheehan. His brother and sister are Mrs. Robert Vargas and Thomas Sheehan and his grandparents are Mrs. Carlo Rasi and the late Mr. Rasi and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sheehan.

Joseph studied at Riordan High School and the University of San Francisco.

26 Students in Regional Training

Twenty six Westmoor High School students, interested in such varied fields as plastics, office occupations, and recreation leaderships, as well as many others, are now taking part in the fall semester of classes offered by the Regional Training Program.

Regional Training Program classes provide its students with practical training in subjects that interest them as a livelihood, and are not offered in the school's curriculum.

Except for teleproductions, which is less than a semester in length and cosmetology, RTP students earn 5 units towards high school graduation. Cosmetology credit is applied to JC graduation.

One of the most specialized fields, air transportation, contains three Westmoorites in its enrollment, Peter Deacon, Mike Dvorak, and Jay Foreman.

Another such field, computer technology, has nine Westmoor students those being, Georgia Boehm, Cindy Grimes, Sue Micheletti, Sue Molver, Gloria Sommarriba, Al Silva, Nancy Dutton, Gordon Reynolds, and Val Moreno.

Key punch training is another class offered, and those taking his class are; Dolores Friedberg, Nina Johnson, Mariza Solimano, Janice Domerque, and Colleen Keyes.

Anne Busalacchi Wed in Millbrae

Gowns of burgundy velvet and white lace were worn by the four attendants who preceded Anne Marie Busalacchi to the altar of St. Dunstan's Church in Millbrae where she was married to Dereck Dragonetti.

The Rev. Angelo Re officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony on Saturday afternoon. A reception followed at the Airport-Marina Hotel.

Anne Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gasper Busalacchi of Millbrae, asked Patricia Giacosa to be her maid of honor. Secondary attendants were Susan Busalacchi, sister of the bride, and Laurinda Pecci and Meg Bishop. All carried burgundy muffs with white orchids.

Anne, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a Victorian dress of Venise pearl lace and carried white roses and baby's breath.

Richard W. Dragonetti was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Dragonetti of Burlingame. Ushers were Gasper Busalacchi, brother of the bride, Michael Hopson, and Gary Smith.

Mrs. Busalacchi took her place in the family pew in a pink alaskine suit trimmed with white mink and pinned on pink roses. Mrs. Dragonetti wore champagne satin with white roses.

When the couple departed on their honeymoon trip to Southern California, the new matron had changed to a navy blue and white suit. The newlyweds will live in Palo Alto.

Anne was graduated from Mills High School. She has another brother Steven and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Balestreri who were at the wedding. Also at the wedding were Mrs. Lydia Cefalo, and Anna Busalacchi, aunts of the bride, and Rita Cefalo, of Boston, a cousin.

Dereck was also graduated from Mills High School and is in the family firm.

Constitution Revision in Class at WHS

Pros and cons regarding America's fundamental law in two American Institution Classes at Westmoor High School, as Evans Maionchi's classes revise the United States Constitution for a classroom exercise.

Such an idea was created because the classes, along with many others, feel the present constitution is not adequate for today's modern society. The idea to revise the constitution did not originate in these classes, but was taken from an idea presented by a paper from the Center of Democratic Societies in Santa Barbara.

Students from these classes received copies of Rexford E. Tugwell's revised constitution which appeared in the center's magazine.

After reading and discussing Tugwell's revisions the classes will break up into committees each taking a section of the constitution. In the committees the members will discuss why or why not their section should be revised.

After comparing their section of the original constitution with Tugwell's, the group will write their own revisions. The groups will then present their revisions to the class where they will be discussed and voted upon.

S.S.F. Merchants Claim Customers Really Want Disposable Cans, Bottles

By BOB PETERSON

South San Francisco merchants say consumers prefer disposable bottles and cans and have initiated a petition to prove their point.

Copies of the petition are being distributed to all retail merchants in that city. Anyone signing it is saying in effect that he recognizes the need for efficient disposal, but also is "desirous of having a free choice in the types of beverage containers available for purchase."

This is but one method merchants plan to use in an organized attempt to halt the emplementation of the proposed ordinance banning sale of non-returnable beverage containers in that city.

An estimated 40 persons, including merchants, and representatives of breweries, soft drink companies, glass manufacturers and the California Retail Liquor Dealers Association, met last week to plan their attack.

The meeting was set up by John Tanti of Brentwood Liquors, and his partner, Larry Maniscako.

It appeared unanimous to the merchants that the city councilmen were making the wrong move in attempting to localize the ban. "It will cripple the business in South San Francisco," said Maniscako. "People would go to surrounding communities to buy their beverages, and still throw them away in South San Francisco."

Maniscako said he had been taking a survey in his store since the introduction of the ordinance to ban the containers. "Nine out of ten of my customers tell me that if they had a choice they would purchase the non-returnable containers," said Maniscako. He said that when he questioned them about ecology they would reply that "it (ecology) is something that pops up once in awhile."

Merchants say the solution is education of the public.

Philip Voorheis, manager of environmental affairs of one of the largest manufacturers of glass containers in the nations, illustrated public apathy with a case in point.

He explained that a large soft drink company introduced a 16-ounce returnable glass container into the New York City market, putting a five-cent deposit on the bottles.

Voohreis said it totaled 600,000 cases with a total deposit value of $720,000. He said that within six months every bottle was gone, not returned. "People had forfeited $720,000 because they didn't care to bring the bottles back," said Voorheis.

Tanti said he checked in the "Worldwide Chamber of Commerce Directory," printed in 1970, "and could find no chamber listing for Bowie, Md., the city whose ordinance South San Francisco is copying. Tanti said he also checked the 1960 census figures on that East Coast city. "It has 1,072 human beings," said Tanti.

Atty. Tom Bocci, who also is a holder of a liquor license, acted as chief spokesman during the meeting. He assigned various tasks to the merchants present.

Leon F. Dillenburg of the Bay Area Grocers' Association, and Richard O'Dell with American Can Company are scheduled to be spokesmen at the Monday night council session when the issue comes before the councilmen for a second reading.

Due to an expected large crowd, the Monday night meeting has been rescheduled for the El Camino Little Theater Auditorium on Old Mission Road, according to acting City Mgr. Larry Ross.

Ed Frandel, executive secretary of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, said he already has notified lobbyists in Sacramento to work toward a state law that would pre-empt any effort of cities to make such laws as proposed by South San Francisco.

Environment, Travel Books a 'Memorial'

In memory of Mrs. Andrew Hanselman, long time board member, the board of trustees of the Daly City Public Library has established a collection of environmental and travel books.

Known as the Maude Hanselman Memorial, the books include publications from the Sierra Club and other organizations interested in the preservation of the scenic resources of America.

"It is hoped," said Mrs. Helen Staub of the library board, "that this collection will inspire the people of Daly City to what the Sierra Club calls 'a stirring love for the earth . . . a renewed hope for the wide spacious freedom that can remain in the midst of the American earth.'"

Mrs. Hanselman was a trustee of the Daly City Public Library from 1952 until her death in 1970. She saw the Library grow from a small branch to a system with over 75,000 books and collections of phonograph records, films, slides, periodicals, pictures, maps, and prints of great art.

Anyone in the community who desires to contribute to the Hanselman Memorial should contact the city librarian at 275 Southgate Avenue.

No-Deposit Ban Favor Expressed

Most independent business owners favor outlawing "no deposit, no return" bottles and cans, a survey showed Sunday.

The National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., with headquarters in San Mateo said its survey showed that 62 per cent think a law should be passed to do away with bottles and cans that are filling dumps.

Another 27 per cent took the opposite view and 11 per cent were undecided, reported the federation, which claims to have the largest individual membership of any business organization in the nation, 287,166.

"The container industry has pushed hard for wider use of non-returnable bottles, but the majority of the businessmen seem to agree that this should be reversed by legislation, if necessary," the federation declared.

"Independent businessmen participating in the poll apparently were little influenced by the 'business argument' that re-use of containers would bring disruption and lower employment to the packaging industry," it continued.

Before Congress is legislation written by Rep. Joseph P. Vigorito, D-Pa., which would ban from interstate commerce non-returnable containers made of glass, plastic or metal.

Vigorito contends that deposit-paid bottles is a better and cheaper solution to the litter problem than the recycling of cans and other refuse.

He claims that almost 100 million soft drink and beer containers are thrown away daily in this country.

Another federation poll showed that in December, 30 per cent of the independent retailers honored bank credit cards, compared with 33 per cent in November and 37 per cent a year ago.

The federation surmised that the average discount charged for sales transacted on the cards was too expensive for the retailers.

The total number of respondents to the polls was not given.

Once Again the Crab

The following is an exerpt from "Nummies on a Wet Afternoon" now out of print and unavailable. The author, currently unemployed, can use the exposure.

"The trouble with being a male cook is that one develops an ego. Enjoyable as it is to fritter around in the kitchen, wielding large sharp knives and keeping watch over boiling cauldrons, it's what comes afterward that's best.

The presentation — when the assembled gourmets (they must be gourmets if they're going to eat what I cook take fork in hand for the first bite. That s the best part.

The feasters demonstrate their culinary sophistication by pronouncing many glowing compliments over the bill of fare. The rosy glow sometimes lasts for hours.

That's why I almost hesitate to include the Crab Louis dressing recipe today. I had a bad experience with it once. So traumatic, as a matter of fact, that it was weeks before I could bring myself to step into a kitchen again.

The Louis I had prepared was magnificent. And I was certain of success, because the friend to whom I was serving it was obviously a lover — of the finest foods — he had come by his portly frame honestly.

I set the Louis down an waited anxiously as he took his first bite. His head raised slowly, his eyes glazed with pleasure. An inarticulate moan of ecstasy rose from deep within. "Well," I said eagerly, "What do you think."

"Magnificent," he said, after a moment. "I LOVE Thousand Island."

It's sad how many good restaurants actually use Thousand Island when the real McCoy — a rich pink Louis dressing — is so easy to make.

RICH LOUIS DRESSING

1 cup commercial real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons grated onion
¼ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Dash of cayenne
1-3 cup heavy cream

Mix together everything but the cream. Set aside. Whip the cream. Fold in the whipped cream until dressing is thoroughly mixed.

Since I only come around once a week, I figure printing two recipes isn't overdoing it. So here's an unusual sauerkraut production that takes some time — but results in a flavor you've never tasted before.

HUNGARIAN KRAUT

1 pound can of sauerkraut
1 chopped onion
1 tablespoon of clear bacon fat
1 teaspoon each paprika and caraway seeds
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup tomato juice
½ cup sour cream

Rinse and drain the sauerkraut. Saute onion in the fat until soft, then add paprika and caraway seeds, then the sauerkraut. Cover and cook on low heat about half an hour. Sprinkle in the flour, then mix in the tomato juice. Cook another 45 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream.

(Don't say what it is. Let them guess)

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Post:

I would hope that Senators Kennedy and Fulbright are very satisfied with the Christmas "present" received by some 1,200 families because of their efforts. I refer to the families of prisoners of war and men missing in action whose names were not on the list obtained by the "backdoor" methods of these two publicly seeking senators. A move that has probably set back the legitimate efforts of our government many months.

What gives them the audacity to believe that they are more qualified than the official representatives who are making every effort to obtain all of the names as well as other conditions for the better treatment of the men now held captive? Or in their self-promoting efforts were they willing to be used as pawns by the Communists and become a part of the psychological warfare program calling for the inhuman use of our servicemen and their families? Issuing a partial unofficial list, through unofficial channels, and showing only a portion of the names is just another step in a continuing program designed to torture our men and the members of their families. In the past when notice was given that prisoners were to be released, the hopes of 1,500 families would be raised only to be crushed two or three months later when three or four men were released. Anyone who would allow himself to be part of such a program hardly exhibits the qualities which are considered necessary for elected representatives.

It would seem that these elected officials could find methods of satisfying their egos that didn't add to the anguish of families of men who represent our country in front of enemy guns — not in front of television cameras.

King Plaque On Wall Now

Not seeing is believing.

Last year, the Jefferson Elementary school district dedicated its administration building at 101 Lincoln Avenue, Daly City, to the memory of Martin Luther King, Jr. A plaque was installed and the board promised the NAACP that the name Martin Luther King, Jr. would be placed on the outside of the building beneath the district letters.

The NAACP's Madge Bradstreet asked why January 12 at a board meeting the district had not kept its promise. "Where is the name outside?", she queried. Associate Superintendent Roger Barthuli replied that the name was "outside on the building," as promised. There were several exclamations of "no" so Superintendent Frank Greenwood went out to see for himself. The proposed seven inch high letters weren't there. "Aren't they there," Barthuli quizzed. "I know I ordered them."

He said later, "I could have sworn on a stack of Bibles that they were up there."

They went up Thursday after being located in the district maintenance department.

Ed Dennis Joins D.C. Toyota Firm

Edward J. Dennis, former Daly City councilman and retired president of the Milk Drivers Union Local 226, has been appointed vice president in charge of public relations for the Daly City Toyota Motors.

Harry Curusis, president of the appointment this week, said "I am deeply honored that Mr. Dennis, a proven civic and labor leader, has accepted this position with us."

The 20 year veteran of the Daly City Council retired last April, shortly after stepping down as head of the Milk Drivers Union.

WINFIELD (SCOTTY) ALDRICH of Daly City recently was promoted to manager of the Safeway Store in Golden Gateway Center, San Francisco. He has been manager of the firm's Jewsey and Castro Sts. unit since 1969.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

Following are Federal regulatory actions being closely followed by the Better Business Bureau.

"CENTS OFF" PROMOTIONS . . . Both the Federal Trade Commission and the Food and Drug Administration have issued proposed rulings on "cents off" promotions. The FDA proposal governs the labeling of foods, drugs, cosmetics and devices while the FTC regulation applies to non-food commodities.

How do the supermarkets arrive at the selling price when advertising "Cents off" and other reduced prices? Maybe the proposed regulation by the FTC will help clarify such sales. The FTC, acting under its authority to regulate all "cents off" offers may be made only after the commodity has been sold at the ordinary and customary price in the recent and regular course of business at the same trading area.

The packager must sell this commodity at a substantial reduction, at least 8 per cent below his ordinary and customary price and, such reductions must at least equal the amount of "cents off" stated on the package.

An introductory offer may still be made if there is no claim of "cents off" the ordinary or customary price. Packages are limited to one month for each "cents off" promotion. There must be two months span between such sales and "cents off" promotions with "cents off" may not exceed 40 per cent of the total volume in any one year.

WIGS . . . Whether called wigs, wiglets, toupees, falls, chignons or just plain hairpieces, the industry that sells, manufactures or distributes them received eleven different guides regarding their sale, labeling and advertising from the FTC.

NEGATIVE OPTION SALES PLANS . . . Subject of the hearings is the FTC's proposed rule which would constitute negative option sales plans an unfair method of competition and an unfair and deceptive practice. Definition of "negative option" for the purpose of the rule is any sale scheme or contractual arrangement whereby a subscriber has not previously requested in writing. It is a "negative option" if the subscriber fails to indicate to the seller within a specified period of time after receipt of an announcement offering the merchandise that he specifically rejects the merchandise offered.

DOOR TO DOOR SALES . . . Hearings will be held in the early part of 1971 on the FTC's proposed trade regulations rule on door-to-door sales. Rule would provide for a three-day cooling off period on all sales of consumer goods in which the seller or his representative personally solicits the sale and the buyer's agreement or offer to purchase is made at a place other than the place of business of the seller.

GUARANTEES . . . ORAL REPRESENTATION. The FTC recently released an opinion regarding oral representations of guarantees or warranties. Their position is that whether such claims are made over radio or TV or otherwise, they must: conform to the Guides Against Deceptive Advertising of Guarantees (issued 1960); be made available to prospective purchasers or purchasers of the product in a written form which is consistent with the oral representations made.

More Blacks Urged

By WILL THOMAS

Henry Lowe, a black man, says he is upset because there are not any black teachers at Christopher Columbus School in Daly City.

He chided Personnel Director Don Pagani and other Jefferson Elementary School District administrators for not hiring more black teachers.

Lowe was even more disgruntled because, he said, most of the black teachers are assigned to poorer, east-of-Mission Street schools.

"There is no excuse for having two black teachers in one school," Lowe also said, adding that he did not believe his children were getting an adequate education — since there was no one of his race teaching at Christopher Columbus.

"We should have black people working with black pupils," Lowe said.

Administrators replied that most black teachers have been assigned to the poverty area schools, because a greater need is believed to be there.

District Superintendent Frank Greenwood explained that there is strong competition among the state's school districts for minority teachers.

Pagani estimated SESD hires 98 per cent of the black teachers who apply.

Pagani agreed the "competition is fierce," and that the district's lower salary schedule loses many potential minority teachers.

The administrators have been trying, Pagani said.

Superintendent Greenwood within the last two years has been to Texas to recruit black educators. Associate Superintendent Vinton Stratton went last year to Missouri, Tennessee and Georgia on a similar search.

Administrators also have gone into Arizona and New Mexico, hoping to hire Chicanos.

Pagani said a Chicano was hired this week from New Mexico for the Fernando Rivera School in the Westlake Region.

He was able to get few "leads" on recent Bay Area minority graduates Wednesday when he called five colleges and universities.

Chicanos Say S.S.F. Center Ignores Needs

A delegation of South San Francisco Chicano youths appeared before the county's Economic Opportunity Commission Thursday to complain that the South San Francisco Information Center is ignoring the community's needs and to demand the removal of its director, Mrs. Eve Rendon.

They were backed by Commissioner Antonio Montoyo of South San Francisco, who claimed directors of the center, part of the county's War on Poverty, were "handpicked" by Mrs. Rendon and had "called the youth of my city stupid."

During an hour-long and frequently emotional hearing, two commissioners — Frank M. Ganino and Julius Castelan — walked out after the commission voted to close further questioning until a parade of speakers had voiced their complaints. They were persuaded to return to the meeting, however, by Edward H. Becks, executive director of the commission.

Becks agreed to investigate the complaints, and the commission will, if necessary, hold a special meeting in South San Francisco.

Among the speakers :

Paul De Silver, a former worker with the Neighborhood Youth Corps, who maintained the INFO center director is "unable to relate to youth."

Rubin Rodrigues, representing Vonceremoz College of South San Francisco, who charged the center would not allow use of its office equipment by the city's young poor.

Jose Bernal, a member of the Mi Barrio Organization, a group of junior high and high school Chicano students. He claimed Mrs. Rendon was "not trying to understand youth."

Sil Gomez, a former employe at the Center, who charged Mrs. Rendon had "done more to disorganize the community than anyone else who has ever come in."

Steve Rodriguez, chairman of South San Francisco's Community Action Council, who said directors of the INFO center have refused to meet with directors of his group, which must approve funds for the center.

Montoyo told the commission he made "a terrible mistake" when he voted for funds for the INFO center last month. He charged Mrs. Rendon with "handpicking" her own directors, and said that one director had called members of the Community Action Council "a bunch of punks."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The divine source of wisdom and integrity and their availability to each individual will be emphasized at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Road Projects in N. County OK'd

Two North-County roadway improvement projects were approved Thursday by a subcommittee of the Greater Transportation Committee of San Mateo County.

Widening of South Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco, and widening of San Pedro Road in Daly City, will be recommended for approval of the Greater Transportation Committee.

If the full committee agrees, Chairman Michael Bedwell explained, funds which are now on hand from city-county gasoline taxes, can be allocated to the cities as an "advance" on the city's share of gas tax income during the next five years.

South San Francisco won sub-committee agreement to spend up to $222,000 from the county fund, as half of the cost of widening South Airport, to four lanes from the junction of San Mateo Avenue and Freeway Street, southward as far as Utah Avenue.

The project includes plans to widen the existing underpass below Bayshore Freeway, to provide traffic control signals at the freeway off-on ramp near Wondercolor Lane and similar lights at Utah Avenue.

South San Francisco Councilman Frank Bertucelli said the improvements would increase the street's capacity "two hundred per cent."

Daly City's project was to spend $215,000 from gas tax funds towards widening of San Pedro Road and East Market Street, also to four lanes.

"This is one of the major east-west interconnecting roads recommended for the county in the 1965 Nolte Report, and is Daly City's first new east-west roadway," said City Engineer David Macabee.

"This is the highest priority" project in the city, Macabee said.

Varied Notes

LIKE FATHER LIKE SON DEPT. — Frank Blum Jr., son of superior court judge Frank Blum, was sworn in as a practicing attorney by his dad Sunday. The younger Blum will be associated with the offices of Hupf, Etcheverry & Coan . . . Sanford Friedman, son of Jack Friedman, was sworn in as a member of the San Mateo County Grand Jury last week. The elder Friedman has been nominated to the San Francisco Grand Jury.

WATCHING THE TUBE Sunday we spotted Westlaker Johnny Swanson miss a short putt during the Bing Crosby clambake at Pebble Beach. Our Source tells that Swanson proudly led pro golfer Jack Nicklaus down the Garden Path the day before the Pro-Am started. Seems Johnny made some sort of a wager with Nicklaus during the warmup round, and won.

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF — Former Daly City councilman Ed Dennis now VP with Toyota Motors. Retired from both the council (20 years) and Milk Drivers' Union Local 226 (23 years) Dennis claims the Good Life gives him too much leisure time. Active all his life, the slowdown just didn't agree with him the Old Pro said.

OVER HAWAII WAY, golfer Pat Markovich, co-owner of the Franklin Canyon over Rodeo way, is honeymooning in Hawaii . . . Builder Henry Doelger and his missus celebrate their 50th next week.

PATRIOTISM IS WHERE you find it. But even that can go too far. Take the thief who broke into the Thomas Edison School in D.C. This culprit walked off with a State flag, a U.S. flag, and a world map. Maybe it's just someone with a little adventure in his heart looking for new lands to conquer?

TRAVELING DEPARTMENT — Restauratuer Frank (Toto) Spadarella and wife, Ida, packing for their upcoming European tour . . . The John Doelgers off to Australia. John and Jane haven't stopped moving around the globe since he retired from the Doelger Corporation last year (1969 that is!)

DOUBLE TALK??? Recently received a copy of BART's 1970 accomplishments. The section that deals with the Daly City station is a real mindboggler. D.C. Councilmen had agreed with BART on a station built into what is called a "cut."

But the report refers to the Daly City station as "an aerial station at Daly City." All one has to do is look at the layout of the land in the Knowles street area, plus the BART approach line that has already been built, and then tell us that this station is going to be anything BUT an aerial structure.

P.S. The report indicates this station is three months BEHIND schedule already.

THEY SEEM TO TALK with forked tongues down Pacifica way. On the one hand they (the city hall folks) scream "ecology," and next turn around and build structures clean down to the waters' edge. We wonder how long it will remain clean once they proceed down to the waters' edge? Latest march to the sea is by an apartment builder who plans to throw up a two and three story apartment house complex near the Daly City - Pacifica line below Old Skyline Drive. Folks who bought homes in the area because of the ocean view are likewise throwing up over the thought of not only losing their view (this will block it out) but also of losing a little more open space to the builders. What used to be a beautiful beachline, haven for a variety of wildlife, is fast being turned into another Coney Island. The least cities bordering each other should do is let the people living there know what's going on; they might want to have something to say about their area — even if it is in another city!

IS HE OR ISN'T HE??? Not long ago we read (somewhere) where Jeff Elementary School trustee Joseph Lewkowitz had decided not to run again. With the filing date for the upcoming April elections only a few short weeks off rumors are flying that he will run. Whichever way the decision goes we can't seem to get too excited about it.

NICE WORK — To Mrs. Maria Luna, a hardworking member of the Daly City community, who recently was appointed to the Democratic Party State Central Committee by State Senator Arlen Gregorio.

SECRET RECIPE — Wanna know what keeps State Senator Arlen Gregorio looking spry — and acting spry? Every morning before he jogs three miles the Senator drinks a hearty breakfast of Tigers Milk mixed with granulated lecithin, apple juice, yogurt, peaches and peanut butter. "This holds me until noon," the Senator revealed. Frankly, one glass of THAT and it would hold us for several years.

Film Making Feature an LSSD Bonus

Brightening Up Basic Three-R's

By WILL THOMAS

Communication is a big thing on campuses these days, and its arts, skills and technical knowhow are being mastered even in the primary grades.

A case in point is the inclusion of film-making as a bonus feature — if not a vital component — of Laguna Salada School District's language arts curriculum.

Movie makers from the earliest grades in the Pacific school district expertise in "language arts" — comprehension and expression of the written and spoken word — through the extra dimension of film.

It all began a decade ago when a former Walt Disney studio employe - turned - teacher introduced filmmaking as an innovative approach to learning in his intermediate school classrooms.

The project moved out of the exclusive phase a couple of years ago when Milt Martin's pilot program caught the interest of the district's elementary faculty. Spearheaded at the primary level by Mrs. Nancy Broderick, the film-making segment of the language arts curriculum has become district wide.

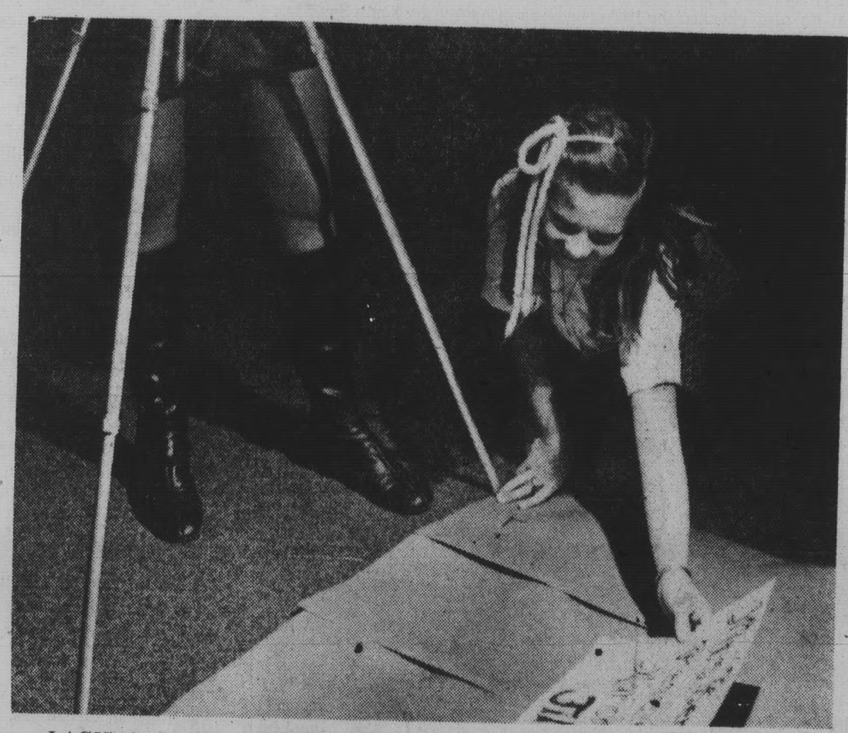
Today, more than 40 teachers are making movies or film strips for their classrooms and for competition among movie producing peers. Last year, Mrs. Broderick's entry won first place in the Primary Children's Division of the California Student Film Festival; Martin's film placed second in the Northern California Junior High Division.

There's a vast diversity of subject matter and approach: the blue ribbon Broderick movie, a Pedro Valley School second grade classroom project, dealt with pollution of a mock city resembling coastside Pacifica. The kids added smoke overhead and debris on the beaches to show their model town as a model of pollution problems.

Among the eight or ten current projects before the camera eye is a version of Dicken's Christmas Carol, completed in time for the holiday season, and a Winnie the Pooh production for spring — both by the same class.

Marvin Morganti, assistant superintendent for curriculum development and unofficial coordinator of the film projects, calls it all "good language arts - related activity." The children write the scripts, develop art work and props and costumes and diagnose the sequence of filming, Morganti pointed out.

In that extra dimension of film "they get the whole language experience," he said.



LAGUNA SALADA SCHOOL DISTRICT'S venture into classroom film making involves students, teachers, parents. Above, teacher Nancy Berge focuses on a title page with the help of one of her third graders. The parents come into the act by loaning equipment — a couple of floodlights or a simple camera.

'Migrate' Headache Is Affecting Nation

The nation suffers from a massive 'migrate' headache. Its pains and tremors appear in many forms and the symptoms are becoming so severe that the malaise may do permanent harm.

Migration is nothing new in America. We all know the history of initial settlement and colonization; the gradual westward drift and the reality of manifest destiny. We also remember that we were once largely an agricultural nation with a widely dispersed population, and that with the growth of commerce and industry our cities became central to our way of life.

But the more even tides of the 19th century and the early part of the 20th century have been replaced by treacherous cross currents. While the less affluent continued to rush to central cities, the sons, daughters and grandchildren of earlier inward immigrants have drifted to the suburbs. With them have gone a large part of retail activity, most industry and a substantial part of national vitality.

The result is the anomalous city. It functions as the nerve center of our economic system. It also has become the last haven for those who have been unable to make the system work for them. Its great wealth is more than matched by staggering obligations. It has seen the flight of middle class residents, followed by retail business and industrial activity. There is only one migration left.

This last migration must be prevented, but to do so will require new solutions. For the canyon dwellers are hard pressed and business yearns to escape the stifling cost of big city existence. It is confronted with local income taxes, parking taxes, utility taxes, real estate taxes and a wide assortment of impositions or tolls of one kind or another. It is well known that an office in Greenwich, San Mateo or the San Fernando Valley is less expensive than a similar one downtown. Commerce likes the city but wonders if it can stay.

The rest of the nation has They have been viewed as vastly wealthy and well equipped to accept the imposing social obligations thrust upon them. National politicians saw the city as a hiding place for their worst problems, and local politicians looked to the center of business and commerce as the bonanza that assured an endless flow of fat round dollars.

But now frantic voices cry for help. Big city mayors and large state governors have long cried wolf. Today their call is real enough, for they see the beginning of the last migration. They see their cities as wastelands without hope and it is time for all of us to listen.

What they say is that the staggering burden of welfare must be shared. They tell us that the Supreme Court's decision on welfare residency has assured a mobile welfare population. They ask for money, but the problem is really bigger than just dollars.

What is required is a rethinking of our philosophy of welfare. This should begin with consideration of our commitment. Since the thirties it has been national policy to aid the less fortunate and it is hard to imagine that we would ever turn our backs on those truly in need.

But the benefits and obligations of welfare have been unevenly allocated. The difference in welfare benefits available in different parts of the nation has helped to form channels through which modern migrations have passed. The disproportionate imposition of burden upon the cities has formed other pathways for movement of people and activity.

The article is not written to propose that we act as our brothers' keeper — we already are. Its purpose is to suggest that the imbalance of welfare is ruinously changing the face of the nation and of our way of life. It is to recommend that we treat our brothers equally regardless of where they happen to live and that the cost of welfare is a national, not a local obligation.

In this context, the current dialogue about revenue sharing and the guaranteed annual income is of imposing importance. For if we fail to think the welfare dilemma through fairly and thoroughly the dream of "one nation undevided" will be no more.

Valuable Thoughts

EDMUND CAVAGNARO took up his pencil and recorded some valuable thoughts that were stored in his mind one day and wrote of the roaming Colma Hills and of the beautifully kept farms that covered them.

He traced the laying of roads and sidewalks through the hog ranches and chicken farms, through the dairies and vegetable fields that stretched from the San Francisco line to the San Pedro Valley.

"A scene never to be forgotten," he wrote, "was the three days of fire raging in San Francisco. I still remember people — some with a cat, dog, or canary in a cage — walking out Mission Road; turning to look at the flames and smoke over their shoulders. It just seemed they couldn't get far enough away." Then follows his eye-witness account of the erection of accomodations for the refugees.

Edmund Cavagnaro's memoirs are a chronicle of establishment of the village that grew into the City of Daly City. But they are brief and need to be amplified by works from others who saw the Colma-Daly City area grow from "a land just covered with vegetables such as sprout patches, cabbages, cauliflowers, artichokes, turnips, carrots, and beets."

AS A TRIBUTE to the memory of Edmund Cavagnaro — Colma native, Daly City councilman — let the oldsters of the North County record their histories and turn them into the Daly City History Committee at the Westlake Library, 272 Southgate.

For the privilege of adding them to the collection, the library will type them in book form and present a bound copy to the author.

Before an adequate history of the Colma-Daly City area can be written, many facts need to come forth. For example, not enough has been recorded about R. S. Thornton or Patrick Brooks, or I. G. Knowles or Bert Ross, and for that matter, many others.

Is there someone in the area who worked on John D. Daly's dairy ranch or as a driver of one of his milk wagons?

Is there anyone who came as a refugee from the San Francisco Earthquake and Fire? Is there anyone who can tell about laying the streets in Old Colma? Who can recall the progress of Westlake from the Doelger Company's first house until the present?

YOUR MEMOIRS are a legacy that belongs to the future. The Library would like them. You don't even have to write them: Just call (992-2414) and we'll arrange to make a tape of it all.

The Chief's Corner

Arguments on Police Merger

THE RECENT STATEMENTS of the San Mateo County Grand Jury bring to light many factors about consolidation of police services and or jurisdictions.

These factors are being discussed and explored constantly by members of law enforcement.

In the last few years, the governing bodies have begun to express an interest in evaluating programs such as these.

Briefly, the grand jury report suggested consolidation of the sheriff's department and all city police departments into a single agency, urging also a feasibility study for improving the efficiency of law enforcement as well as protecting the citizen's tax dollar.

Governments have a basic responsibility to provide needed services for their constituents. If it is beyond the ability of an individual jurisdiction to provide adequate services it may abolish itself, continue its inadequate service or seek, usually through some joint effort, to meet its responsibilities more adequately other ways.

Because of spiralling increases in the cost of government, increased demands for service, increased criminal activity, and deminishing cooperation on the parts of both the public and police the present methods of accomplishing our objectives must be reviewed and new means discovered to create more efficient and effective police service at more reasonable cost.

The next several columns of the chief's corner will be devoted to this subject. It will explore the alternatives to present systems and the advantages and disadvantages of possible changes.

Of primary concern in this matter is the possibility of substituting efficency for effectiveness — without effectiveness even the most efficient operation in the world would be useless.

INITIALLY, WE WILL LIST arguments of a general nature, both for and against either a countywide police agency or the implementation of consolidated services.

Surviving the Losses

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

IT WAS FALL OF 1968 and San Francisco State College football coach Vic Rowen was wondering how he was going to follow his own act.

His Gaters had won not only another Far Western Conference championship the year before, but one of their only two loses had come to the all-powerful San Diego State College in the Camellia Bowl. It was a respectable 27-6 loss to a team soon to go into a big time football schedule.

Rowen had lost his record-making offensive leaders to graduation: Little All American quarterback Bob Toledo, receivers Ed Larios, Joe Koontz (both of whom went into pro ball) and Dennis Highland, and kicker Jim Brian. But he felt he had a solid team, less spectacular, but perhaps another title contender.

Rowen had no way of knowing that the loss of Toledo, et al., would be the least of his worries that fall. He knew of the campus unrest elsewhere in California, in the country, but like most people, he never really considered that it might have a profound effect on State College, or his football team.

The strikes and the riots started, and so did the Gaters, and they were out of the chutes as quick as the radicals, sprinting to a 4-1 record, including a revenge win over Santa Clara (19-8), the other team which had beaten them in '68 (28-21), and three straight FWC wins.

But Rowen's black players, in the meanwhile, had fallen in with the strikers, either voluntarily or by coercion, and the white players were, along with the rest of the campus, visibly upset. Glenn Baker, State's leading ground gainer and the only black who hadn't knuckled under the very real threats of murder, was packing a gun to practices. State lost four of its last five games, and had its worst record since 1956.

AND THEN THE REALLY hard part started. Recruiting. Many parents wouldn't even allow Rowen and his staff to get near their athlete-sons to talk to them about that "hippie" college. It wasn't just the parents. Not only were young men fearful of physical harm OFF the football field, but many of them were also skeptical about being able to attend classes without being harrassed. Contrary to popular belief, many young athletes are also interested in genuine educations.

What with the worries over being able to get enough warm bodies out for the team and the continued threat of student body support being withdrawn from the athletic program, Rowen was sincerely doubtful about whether he would even be able to field a team in '69.

He was able, barely, but the opening 71-7 loss to Cal Poly gave a hint of what was to be expected. The Gaters finished 3-7 and opponents scored twice as many points as they did. This past season, it was worse, State didn't win a game and some of the scores were so atrocious they shouldn't be printed in a family newspaper.

But for the first time in more than two years, Rowen is hopeful, even optimistic about the future. No, he hasn't gone punchy. He still has all of his faculties which are considerable.

At this moment, as they have since football season for State officially ended, Rowen and his staff are recruiting. And there is light at the end of the tunnel. Jack Burgett came up with a fine freshman team this past season, and parents are actually happily allowing Rowen to talk to their sons. The image is changing and, says Rowen, President S. I. Hayakawa has had a lot to do with it. He has not only changed the direction of the college as a whole, but he has specifically backed the athletic department. "He's helped things," says Rowen. "The parents like him, and that helps us." As a consequence, more students, with the encouragement of their parents, are becoming interested in San Francisco State College.

State is no longer a streetcar college. Although Rowen admits that there is enough talent in the immediate area to stock winning teams (the student strikes and riots hurt all sports, not just football), he's grateful that the college now has residence halls and encourages students from more faraway places.

No coach is ever ethnocentrist enough to want to draw all of his raw material from one pot. He always likes to think that he can reach a little further for a little more if he needs to.

"Our problems," says Rowen, "weren't unique. They were universal. We haven't solved all of those problems, but we've solved a lot of them.

"San Francisco State College is now able to offer opportunities that we haven't been able to offer for a while. Here there is a real chance for a lot of kids."

A year or so ago, mainly when it looked as if a good portion of student body support might be cut from under the athletic department, there were rumors that Rowen was disgusted, down-hearted and ready to quit. He denies those rumors vehemently.

"There was never a chance I would quit," he says. "You know me, I'm a football coach. A football coach has to put up with the bad seasons as well as the good ones, or he's no true football coach.

"Losing is hard, but it's not the hardest thing in football. The hardest thing is surviving with dignity."

WHEN THE ASSOCIATED PRESS named George Blanda the Male Athlete of the Year it failed to mention that Blanda is the first pro footballer to be given the honor in the 40 year history of the award.

As a matter of fact, before Blanda's naming, football hadn't been represented at all since 1955, when Ohio State's great back Hopalong Cassidy was picked.

Baseball has dominated the awards, with 17 picks, including the last five before Blanda, and eight of the past nine before George (swimmer Don Schollander had sneaked in there in 1964).

We don't know what all of this proves. Baseball has more male athletes than any other sport?

WHILE WE'RE ON RATINGS, it's lucky for Nebraska that the collegiate football mythical national champions are not judged on their relative rankings in team statistics.

Judging by the eight basic team offensive and defensive statistics (total offense, rushing offense, passing offense, scoring, total defense, rushing defense, passing defense, points allowed and tenth in both total defense and rushing defense.

The Irish failed to qualify high only in pass defense. Otherwise, they were second in total offense, 14th in rushing, eighth in passing, ninth scoring (average points per game), fifth in total defense, fifth rushing defense, and sixth in fewest number of points allowed per game.

Texas ranked first in rushing and points scored per game, and fourth in total offense. Ohio State was eighth in points allowed and tenth in both total defense and rushing defense.

Most surprising team in the area of team statistics was San Diego State, which went "major" only a couple of years ago. They placed high in six categories, which, under such a system of rating teams, would have made them the nation's number two team. They were third in passing offense, eighth in scoring, fourth in total defense, twelfth in rushing defense, sixth in passing defense, and tenth in points allowed per game.

IF NOBODY YET FULLY REALIZES exactly what a spectacular rookie season 49er Bruce Taylor had, especially as a punt returner, perhaps this will convince you: at the end of the twelfth regular season game, he had already broken the all-time NFL record for total yardage for punt returns. (457) set by Ram Pat Studstill when he was with Detroit in 1962. Taylor finished with 516.

What's even more amazing is that Taylor, we estimate (there are no stats kept on this one), had perhaps 30-40 per cent of his punt return yardage called back because of penalties. We remember one game when we counted over 100 yards that were called back on him.

Colts Inherit NPL Lead

After just three games that have produced enough upsets to send at least five conference coaches to the funny-farm, the El Camino Colts find themselves alone at the top of the standings with the only perfect record, 3-0.

That's right! The El Camino Colts. The team that went 1-7 in practice action and was counted out long befode the league season opened. The Colts made it three in a row Friday with an uneventful 57-48 victory over the Half Moon Bay Cougars up in SSF. In other NPL action yesterday, Jefferson upended Serramonte, 66-27, and Westmoor blasted Terra Nova, 84-72.

Rene Herrerias' lads played their patient pick-off offense to perfection, got layin after layin and quickly turned the game over to the subs.

Starting guard Steve Carroll, the Colts' leading scorer, hit three for three from the floor in the first half, took an elbow below the eye in the second period and sat out the rest of the night. Sub forward Vince Howard came on for eight layins and 17 points for game honors.

Throwing a few defensive surprises at the Tigers, Westmoor's Rams exploded out of a lethargic first period to score 59 points in the second and third quarters and boost themselves to their second win against one loss.

A steady inside performance by forward Jeff Orlich and the explosiveness of guards Brad Quanstrom and Dave Riley combined with a superb bench job by forward Gary Stoller gave the Rams the victory over the taller Tigers.

For the first time since anyone can remember, Westmoor opened a league game in a man-to-man defense. It momentarily shocked the Tigers into several miscues bu t they recovered sufficiently in the late first period to take a 17-11 quarter lead. Then Westmoor's press really took hold. Not getting any outside scoring to speak of, the Rams darted inside the 6-6, 6-5, 6-5 Tiger front line for muscle shots and rallied from a 33-20 deficit to score 10 quick points.

Stoller's tip with just 47 seconds left in the half gave the Rams their first lead, 39-38, and a great pass from Gavin Long to Orlich made it 41-38 at the buzzer. Long, Quanstrom and Riley set up Orlich continually with excellent inside passes while Stoller hit six for eight from the floor, four from long-ranges.

Jeff put up a rugged defense while Serramonte was unable to cope with the Indian offense and it was no-contest after the first quarter. Subs took over most of the game for the Regents as center Ken Smith led the parade with 17. None of the Regents' shooters broke into double figures as Serramonte got just one free throw and only 13 buckets.

Oceana Cagers Score Upset Over Warriors

By JERRY LITTRELL

For the first time in the ten-year history of the North Peninsula League, the Oceana Sharks defeated the South San Francisco Warriors in a varsity basketball game.

After 18 straight league losses to the South City quintet stretching back to 1961, the Sharks on Friday upset the Industrial City five, 51-46, to throw the NPL race back into a five-way race.

Oceana beat the Warriors at their own game—a tenacious man-to-man defense and clutch free-throw shooting. For some strange reason, after playing eitht games in a zone defense, the Sharks came out with individual defensive pressure and it worked to perfection. The Sharks cut off the entire middle of SSF's offensive zone with a sagging defense anytime the Warriors even looked towards the middle.

"We had played a man-to-man just briefly in one previous game and looked just awful," admitted Shark coach Don Novitsky. "I wanted to stop them from getting inside with their quickness so I chanced the man-to-man again. Thank goodness it worked."

"They played a great game," admitted Warrior coach Gene Mullin. "Our players were mentally caught between the elation of beating Westmoor two days before in that overtime game and looking towards El Camino in our next game. Oceana has a solid starting unit and they just beat us with better play in that fourth period."

The Warriors, now 2-1 in the NPL, led by five at the half. But center Terry Johnston had controlled the boards throughout the half over the smaller Warriors. He continued that domination in the third period as the Warriors, passing up numerous 12-foot open shots trying to get inside, were getting just one shot at the bucket. Then with 1:15 left in the third quarter, Johnston's layin gave the Sharks a 33-32 lead, their first of the game.

The margin stayed between three and a tie the rest of the way. South San Francisco's Tony Sotoa hit an offensive tip with 1:45 left to tie it for the last time at 45-all. With Oceana up 47-46 in the final seconds of play, Johnston hit two free throws at the ten-second mark and cashed in on another two charity tosses with just one second left.

Panthers Return to League Race

By PETER BARSOCCHINI
Post Correspondent

The Burlingame Panthers took the first step of what promises to be an arduous uphill climb to get back into the thick of the Mid-Peninsula League title fight Friday.

The Panthers accomplished this by firmly leveling the inconsistent Crestmoor Falcons, 68-48, within the friendly confines of their own gymnasium.

It was an important victory.

Burlingame was coming off two consecutive one-point defeats administered to them by league-leading Hillsdale and the upset-bent Mills Vikings. But, hopefully, the Panthers erased those annoying memories last night as they took control of the contest with Falcons shortly after the opening tipoff and never came close to relinquishing it.

"We were getting a lot of the shots we like to take tonight," commented Burlingame coach Frank Bettendorf following the tiff. "I thought the way we handled their press in the second half was also very effective," he added.

The Panthers broke the game open early behind the outside shooting of Steve Kircher and Doc Scheppler who each helped considerably to loosen up the Crestmoor zone defense with their accuracy from the perimeter.

The press applied by the Panthers in the first half was very effective in forcing the Falcons into numerous turnovers and more mental errors than the San Bruno five will care to remember. Burlingame led at the half 32-13.

Crestmoor came out with a press of their own in the second half but the Panthers used it much to their own advantage by setting up many mis-match situations and the Falcons fell into serious foul trouble as a result.

Crestmoor's Dan Cox was high scorer with 21 points.

WHS Upset By Warriors Wednesday

Year after year one thing remains a constant factor in North Peninsula League basketball action — when the South San Francisco Warriors take the court you can expect the impossible and be thoroughly entertained while watching it happen.

That magic spell the Warriors seem to carry with them earned a 91-90 overtime win over the favored Westmoor Rams in another wild and wooly run-shoot-and-press exhibition that left spectators and players limp with exhaustion.

The win boosted Gene Mullins' squad into a tie for first place with a 2-0 record but more importantly it gave the minute Warriors hope for the rest of the year. The win was accomplished without the Warriors' "biggest" player, 6-2 Jack Preston, out sick, and the starting lineup didn't have anyone over 6-0. But the Warriors were in control with that out-of-control offense most of the way.

With Jeff Orlich, who was to foul out in the third quarter, working well inside in the first half, Westmoor stayed within two points most of the way. The hand-slapping SSF defense bothered the Rams enough to upset their usual patient offensive patterns. It looked more like ice hockey at times as Mullins kept shuffling different lines in and out of the game.

"We have a lot of little people who hustle like crazy so everybody gets a chance to play," Mullins said. "Sometimes it's hard to tell anyone apart as they all stand about 5-11 but they have a good deal of team pride going for them."

The Warriors took a 12-point lead in the second period thanks to a 12-point effort by Mike Young in the last three minutes of the half. He hit two layins,

O.D.'s and Sorefeet in Coast Wins

Pacifica's adult Hunch League entered the second round with the O.D.'s and Sorefeet picking up impressive wins.

Pete Jemma and Bob Preston combined for 34 points, as the O.D.'s demolished the Over Thirty Gang, 41-30. Bob Fiscaro paced the Over Thirty with eight points.

Rich Compton scored 29 points, as the Playboys nipped the Sorefeet, 41-35. Jay Fournet led the Sorefeet attack with 24 points.

Dick Drake scored 23 points to help Kerries Coffee Shop upend the French Club 52-34 and make the Pacifica Adult Basketball Finals. Kerries will now meet Dial Glass for the Adult Basketball Championship. Bill Jones and Frank Taylor paced the French Club with nine points apiece.

Dial Glass made the Finals of the Adult League by cracking past the vastly improved AAA, 57-50. Will Camp and Mac Smith combined for 33 points to lead the Dial Glass offensive attack. Dennis Tomberlin was the leading scorer in the game with 23 points for AAA.

WHS Freshmen Lose to SSF

Westmoor's frosh-soph basketball team lost to the South San Francisco Warriers, 69-54, January 13.

At half time, the Warriors led by only one point, 32-31.

In the second half South City penetrated the Ram zone and opened up an eight point bulge at the end of the third quarter.

In the final stanza, Ram hopes for a comeback were all but shattered when 6'5" center Leo Biederman picked up his fifth foul. The smaller Rams were unable to mount a rally.

Leading the Ram attack was Biederman with 15. Wallace of South City scored 22 points.

Colts Survive Overtime Twice

Officials, coaches, fans and players all got a workout Wednesday afternoon at Jefferson High School but for the visiting El Camino Colts the extra time spent was worth the reward.

The revitalized Colts won their second North Peninsula League game in a row by upending the Jefferson Indians, 64-61, in double-overtime.

A costly request for a timeout in the second overtime period was the difference in the game. Leading just 60-59 after Dale Momii's bucket the Colts were assisted when a Jeff player called for a time out. Unfortunately, Jeff didn't have any left and the request resulted in a technical foul. Guard Steve Carroll hit the technical shot, Momii added another free throw seven seconds later and with seven seconds left Carroll came back with two more charity tosses for a 64-59 margin.

Carroll ended with 21 points but high point honors went to Jeff's Ken Smith with 33.

In other NPL action, Oceana handled Half Moon Bay, 76-54, as the Sharks evened their record at 1-1. Larry Johnston topped the scorers with 20 points in a game that was never out of Oceana's control.

Hunch League Starting

The Daly City Recreation Division is now taking sign ups for its 1971 winter-spring Adult 3 Main Hunch Basketball League.

The League will again feature two divisions — Open Division and Under 6 Foot Division.

League play is to begin February 1, with all games played on Monday nights at the War Memorial Community Center.

All teams interested in participating in this program must submit a complete team roster, along with a $10 per team entry fee, before January 22.

One week remains in the Daly City Recreation Division Adult 3 Man Basketball League with the league leading Lucky Six and runner-up Athletes preparing for their championship battle.

The Lucky Six notched their ninth straight win last week by crushing Pedroni A.C. 40-18 while the Athletes slipped past a stubborn No-Name crew 41-34.

In other action, the Romona Casuals knocked off the "hard luck" Liquor Land team 40-30 to capture their third league.

COLLEGE OF SAN MATEO gridiron award winners for the past season included (kneeling) lineback Don Montelong (co-most improved) and flanker Tom Scott (most valuable); (standing) tackle Mike Clabby (mostinspirational, back Phil Andre (defensive point leader) and guard Benny Cox (co-most improved). Scott and Andre were named to all-state team, along with defensive tackle Ed Schweitzer. (Ken Marks Photo)

Three CSM Soph Gridders Make All-State JC Teams

Three College of San Mateo soph football players have been named to the All-State JC teams.

Following up on his All-America and All-Bay Area selection, Golden Gate Conference co-player of the year Tom Scott was voted to the flankerback spot on the 22-man first team.

Making the large division third team defensive unit were tackle Ed Schweitzer and back Phil Andre, both former North Peninsula Athletic League stars. Schweitzer, a Pacifica resident, attended Oceana High, while Andre is a South San Francisco grad. The duo helped CSM lead the league in defense. Scott, former Serra star from Daly City, was the leading all-purpose runner in collegiate football the past season with a 195.2 yards per game average, a total of 1757 yards — 734 pass receiving, 729 on kickoff and punt returns, and 294 rushing.

All three men were first team All-Golden Gate Conference performers on the CSM team which was 7-1-1 last fall and seventh ranked in the state. That lone loss, to Diablo Valley in the league opener, was the Bulldogs' only defeat in their last 15 games!

Scott was CSM's most valuable player also the past season while Andre won the president's trophy for his defensive play. Other Bulldog award winners were defensive guard Benny Cox (Ravenswood grad from Menlo Park) and linebacker Dan Montelongo (Westmoor) most improved players and defensive tackle Mike Clabby (Westmoor) most inspirational player.

Honorary captains were Scott and "stinger" Neil Kuersten (South San Francisco). All the award winners are sophomores.

For CSM's Golden Gate Conference cross country champions, Dave Robertson (San Mateo) repeated as most valuable player while veteran Mark Clark (Westmoor) was most inspirational and freshman Wayne Smith (Mills) most improved.

Les Hamann (Sequoia) was most valuable player on CSM's GGC champion and state runner-up water polo team while Gary Pantaleoni was voted most improved.

Bulldogs Ready for Competition at Cow Palace

Golden Gate Conference track champion College of San Mateo made an auspicious start to the 1971 season by qualifying in all three JC relay events for the January 22 All-America Games at the Cow Palace.

In addition, the Bulldogs qualified a trio of individual competitors during trials held at San Jose City College January 9.

Sophomore distance runner Dan Best from Half Moon Bay qualified easily with a third place 4:26.7 devil-take-the-hindmost mile trial in a heat won by Butte's Jack West (4:25.w). In the other heat, only winner Mike Weaver of American River beat Best's time, with a 4:21.2 clocking, and the veteran Beaver runner will be Best's toughest foe in the indoor finals.

Bulldog soph pole vaulter Don Getchel from Westmoor placed fifth at 13-0 behind leader Russ Royald of De Anza (14-3).

"Because the three relays are spread well apart at the Cow Palace, I think we have an excellent chance to win all three," Bulldog coach Bob Rush stated.

He was particularly pleased with CSM's winning 3:29.3 spring medley relay team of freshman quartermiler Andy Alexander (49.5) from South San Francisci, halfmile anchorman Dave Robertson (1:55) and 220 sprinters Barry Raymond and Willie Morrison. The latter three are all veterans of CSM's 1970 championship track team, while San Mateo High grad Robertson was also MVP on the Bulldogs' title winning cross country squad last fall. Morrison, from Texas, is an East Palo Alto resident.

Crestmoor grad Raymond stretched some ligaments during his mdeley sprint, so Rush held him out of the mile relay trials. The Bulldogs still had no trouble qualifying with a third place 3:25.9 with a team of Vance Anderson (San Carlos), Gary John (Westmoor), Alexander and Robertson. Contra Costa won the section in 3:21.7, while American River took the second race in 3:21.4 and they are the teams to beat indoors, too.

CSM's two mile relay team was only seventh overall in the trials. But they had no trouble qualifying and Rush told his runners to take it easy in that early event since they still had two other relay races to run.

At the Cow Palace, the mile relay will be run at 2:55 p.m., the two mile relay at 5:25, and the spring medley at 8 p.m., giving triple duty performers such as Robertson two-and-a-half hours between races.

San Mateo will also have a full entry list in the January 30 trials for the Athens Indoor Meet at the Oakland Coliseum, February 13.

Cap's Bench Is Getting a Workout

By CHRIS STAVE
Post Correspondent

The Capuchino bench is finally getting a workout, and that may be as important to the Mustangs' Mid-Peninsula League title hopes as the slick pyrotechnics of Jimmy Johnson's starting five.

The subs didn't see much action during the practice season, but that's all changing now. They played for half the victory over San Mateo in January and again Wednesday, as the 'Tangs whipped cross-city rival Crestmoor 80-55 at the Falcon gym.

A dearth of experienced substitutes cost the 'Tangs dearly in their only league loss, in the opener to Burlingame.

The 'Tangs starting five took things in hand from the opening tip yesterday, forcing two turnovers and getting two buckets before Crestmoor even got a shot off.

That's the way the whole first quarter went. The Falcons were utterly stymied by the Cap zone and press, making nine turnovers. Cap converted on most of them. Crestmoor didn't get a field goal until 0:48 of the first quarter. Ten seconds later Cap coach Johnson started substituting.

Cap led 28-7 at the end of the quarter and 41 27 by the half.

Crestmoor played steadier basketball against a mixture of starters and subs in the second half. The Falcons did a little pressing of their own, with mixed success. But George Ama and Mark Spacher were finding the mark. Spacher hit 16 and Ama 11 to lead the Falcon scoring.

Even so, the Falcons were never able to close the gap successfully. The Cap subs didn't do much scoring, but they did get in a lot of playing time.

Four of the Cap starting five hit in double figures: Steve Newberry took game honors with 21, Dennis Haag and Keith Hernandez both sank 16, and Rob Silver netted 12.

WHS Upset By Warriors

two outside shots and four free throws to personally boost the SSF offense.

The Warriors committed nine turnovers in the third period and guards Dave Riley and Brad Quanstrom cashed in to bring Westmoor to within one at 52-51. But Brad Lefler's three-point play and Young's tip in at the buzzer gave SSF a 61-55 quarter bulge.

SSF built up a six point lead in the fourth period but the Rams kept pecking away until within 25 seconds left, and trailing 82-78, soph forward Gavin Long hit a short jumper off a jump ball. A turnover gave Westmoor the ball and Quanstrom fired from 20-feet with five seconds left and missed badly. But Riley caught the rebound and put it through for the overtime points.

The pace never slackened. In true NBA style it was run-and-shoot until Lefler's offensive tip with 12 seconds left off a missed free throw gave SSF a 91-88 bulge and the game.

The Daly City Recreation Division's Youth Basketball Program got off to an exciting start as over 50 teams, with boys ranging from third thru eighth grades, took to the hard courts to compete in first round City-wide league action.

The following summary describes first round action in the various divisions:

4th Grade — Long Division

Steve Bernie led a hustling Holy Angels Crusaders team to a 20-18 win over the OLM Mavericks by pouring 9 points thru the hoop. Kevin Mahoney was outstanding for the Mavericks while contributing 4 points.

The PAL Tigers used a balanced team attack as they overwhelmed the OLPH Spartans 21-10. Darius Ely was high for the Tigers with 7 points while Tom Baldwin sparked the Spartans with 5 points.

STANDINGS

| Team | Won | Lost |
|---|---|---|
| Crusaders | 1 | 0 |
| Tigers | 1 | 0 |
| Mavericks | 0 | 1 |
| Spartans | 0 | 1 |

4th Grade — Short Division

The PAL Warriors, led by the 14 point scoring of Doug Dennis, squeaked past the Holy Angels Devils 16-10. Joe Ryan was a standout for the Holy Angels team as he contributed 6 points in a losing effort.

The OLPH Hawks won a thriller from the OLM Patriots 20-16 as the 8 point scoring and fine offensive play of OLM's Dan Molieri proved to be a deciding factor.

Doug Price was impressive for the losers scoring 6 points.

In final action, the PAL Seramonte Vikings started their campaign on the right foot as they defeated the Holy Angels Saints 18-10. Bob Christman was the one man show for the Vikings scoring 12 points while George Siggie proved outstanding for the Holy Angels.

Troy Suffers Worst Loss of Season

Skyline College takes a brief respite from the torrid cage wars, much to the relief of coach Walt Rilliet.

The Trojans came out of last week's "Must-win" situation with two losses and now own a dismal 1-3 mark in the rugged Camino Norte conference.

Skyline is idle Wednesday because of finals, with the Trojans hosting southern cousin Canada College in an 8 o'clock conference game Saturday night.

Host DeAnza College, hitting seven of its first 11 shots from the floor, quelled all upset visions early Saturday night as they downed Skyline, 82-56, in what Rilliet termed as "our worst defeat this season."

Make-Ahead Sandwiches, Salad Solve Problem of Varied Dining Hours

Not all the family always eats together nowadays. Often schedules don't jibe and mom becomes a short order cook, much to her dismay. Or if she's the family member that must be somewhere else, it may mean a cold meal for the children and even for dad.

Yet a hot meal is important, especially in chilly weather. A solution for lunch of supper is satisfying made-ahead sandwiches that can be heated all at once or individually upon demand.

Meat in the Sandwiches provides not only flavor but the protein, iron and B vitamins that the family needs.

Barbecued Beefburgers

2 pounds groundbeef
2 medium-sized onions, chopped
1 medium-sized green pepper, chopped
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1½ teaspoons salt
8 hamburger buns

Lightly brown ground beef, onion and green pepper. Pour off drippings. Add tomato sauce, mustard, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce and salt to meat mixture, combining thoroughly. Bring to boil, reduce heat and cook over low heat 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon barbecue mixture on bottom halves of buns, cover with bun tops and serve at once. Or filled buns can be individually wrapped in foil and heated in 300 deg. F. oven. 8 servings.

Ham and Cheese Bunwiches

2 cups cubed ham (¼ to ½-inch cubes)
4 ounces Cheddar cheese, cut in ¼ to ½-inch cubes
½ cup raisins
2 tablespoons pickle relish
¼ cup mayonnaise
8 hamburger buns

Combine meat, cheese, raisins, pickle relish and mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing. Place 1-3 cup of mixture on bottom half of each bun and place on cooky sheet. Place top halves of buns on meat mixture. Cover tightly with foil and bake in a 400 deg. F. oven for 10 to 15 minutes, depending on whether sandwiches were stored in refrigerator before being placed in oven. Serve warm. Filled buns can be individually wrapped in foil, stored in refrigerator and baked later. 8 servings.

Cheese Hashburgers

1 can (15½ ounces) corned beef hash
1 third cup catsup
2 tablespoons pickle relish
¼ teaspoons oregano
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
4 hamburger buns
8 slices Cheddar cheese

Combine corned beef hash, catsup, pickle relish, oregano and mustard. Split buns in half and toast slightly. Spread hash mixture on buns evenly, covering the toasted surface completely. Broil 3 to 5 minutes or until mixture is heated through. Place a slice of Cheddar cheese on top of meat mixture on each bun and broil 2 to 3 minutes or until cheese is melted. 8 servings.

To accompany a sandwich supper try this Gingered Orange-Grapefruit Salad topped with creamy Rocky Road Dressing. Fresh oranges, frozen concentrated orange juice, and canned orange juice are being spotlighted by the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service as the plentiful-foods-to-feature.

Gingered Orange Grapefruit Salad

1 Grapefruit, peeled, sectioned, seeded
3 oranges, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces (about 1½ cups)
1 cup orange juice
½ cup water
2 to 3 teaspoons finely chopped crystallized ginger
2 3-oz. packages lime flavored gelatin
1 3-oz. package lemon flavored gelatin
2 cups ginger ale
⅛ teaspoon ground ginger or nutmeg
1 -third cup broken pecans
Rocky Road Dressing

Drain fruit well. Heat orange juice, water, and crystallized ginger just to boiling point; add gelatin, stirring until completely dissolved. Add ginger ale. Place 1¼ cups of mixture into small bowl along with ground ginger or nutmeg. Chill unti it mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Whip until frothy and double in volume; quickly fold in pecans. Pour into 1½ quart mold; refrigerate. Chill remaining gelatin until thick, but not set; fold in fruit. Spoon over whipped layer and chill until firm. Unmold on bed of lettuce and serve with Rocky Road Dressing; garnish with pieces of crystallized ginger, if desired. Serve 8-10.

Rocky Road Dressing

1 3-oz. package cream cheese, softened
1 cup heavy cream, very cold
1 tablespoon lemon juice
4 to 5 teaspoons sugar
¼ cup miniature marshmallows
2 tablespoons finely chopped pecans
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel

In small mixing bowl, combine softened cream cheese, heavey cream, and lemon juice; beat at high speed until soft peaks form. Fold in remaining ingredients; cover and refrigerate at least 1 hour. Makes 2½ cups.

Freezer Full of Gourmet Dinner Fare

Today's housewife may still keep an extra can of beans on the pantry shelf for the unexpected dinner guest, but she's likely to have a freezer supply of gourmet dishes ready to pop into the oven for planned or impromptu parties.

Del Monte's Grand Tour brand of elegant entrees encompasses the cuisine of Russia, France and Italy and even includes a dish for a festive brunch — all ready to heat and eat.

Breast of Chicken Kiev is a culinary masterpiece from the kitchens of Czarist Russia. The Grand Tour serving dish includes a side portion of fluffy rice with peas.

Breast of Chicken in Madeira Sauce with Wild and White Rice is an entree that will impress even the most discriminating guest.

Veal Cordon Bleu is a "Blue Ribbon" type of breaded schnitzel, combining veal with Canadian bacon and Swiss cheese.

Crepes Cannelloni makes an ideal luncheon or dinner main dish. This Italian specialty is made of crepes filled with a mixture of chicken, veal and ricotta cheese topped with a tomato sauce and Teleme cheese sauce.

Beef Burgundy combines meat and vegetables braised in a rich brown sauce flavored with hearty Burgundy wine.

Macaroni, Cheese & Ham Casserolle combines classic elbow macaroni in a Cheddar cheese sauce. To this is added peas, strips of sugar cured ham and carrots.

Grand Tour Chicken Chasseur is a combination of classic Sauce Chasseur over boned leg of chicken. It is accompanied by butter sauced noodles.

Grand Tour Crepe Seville teams a light, thin crepe (filled with orange marmalade and Canadian bacon) with bacon seasoned scrambled eggs. It is created for the gourmet's breakfast.

Walnut Dip

Mash a three-ounce cake of cream cheese and soften to dipping consistency with cream or sour cream. Season to taste with one to two teaspoons of anchovy paste and add finely chopped toasted California walnuts. Serve with bread stick and celery "dippers" and a platter of crisp radishes, green onions and sliced salami, mortadella or other Italian meats.

PRODUCTIVITY

One hour of farm labor in 1970 produces nearly seven times as much food and other crops as it did in 1919-21.

Famed Restaurants Contribute to Recipe File of Seafood Dishes

Seafood in the hands of master chefs has become one of the discriminating gocrmet's favorite delights. The American Express cookbook "Specialty of the House," by Sandy Lesberg includes the specialties of 400 restaurants in the world.

Among these are delicious treatments of creatures of the seas and lakes.

Miami Beach — Jackie Gleason's "Fun and Sun Capital of the World," — is also one of the seafood capitals. Florida, surrounded by water on three sides, is a veritable treasure trove of fish and shell food. And Miami Beach has the restaurants to prepare them in an almost infinite variety.

Most of us have sampled the great French creation, Bouillabaisse. Perhaps fewer people are familiar with a similar Italian dish.

Executive Chef Stephen Spaneas of The Plaza Hotel shares this recipe which has never been printed before.

FRUTTI DEL MARE ALLA VERNA

2½ pound lobsters
1 dozen cherrystone clams
1 dozen mussels
½ pound squid, sliced
1 dozen shrimp, peeled, seed-deveined
¼ cup olive oil
2 cup onions julienne
2 cloves garlic, minced
4 tomatoes, peeled, seeded and cubed
½ cup parsley, chopped
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon thyme, crushed
1¼ quarts clam broth or fish stock
8 ounces dry white wine

Salt and fresh ground black pepper to taste.

Clean and scrub shellfish. Cut lobster into 8 pieces and clean squid. Pour oil into brazier and add onions, garlic, tomatoes and seasonings. Arrange lobster and shellfish over vegetables, cover and simmer for 8 to 10 minutes until the juices have been extracted. Add clam broth and white wine; cover and bring to a boil then lower heat and simmer gently for 20 minutes. Serve with linquine al dente.

Serves: 4 to 6

Wine: Dry white wine.

It seems that being from Texas is not unlike a religion or a dedication. We all know that the state is bigger, the women more beautiful, the beef more tasty, the buildings higher, and the restaurants better than anywhere else in the world.

There are some fine restaurants in the Lone Star State, and high on the list is Brennan's in Houston. Chef Paul Pauly revelas the following recipe for the first time:

TROUT BLANGE

½ cup butter
1 tablespoon minced garlic
¾ cup raw oysters
½ cup sliced cooked mushrooms
½ teaspoon Spanish saffron
2 cups whole canned tomatoes
1 cup fish stock
¼ teaspoon cayenne
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water
2 trout (2 pounds each) cleaned, boned. (Save heads, skin, bones for making stock)
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes.

In a 10-inch skillet melt butter and saute garlic, shrimp, oysters, mushrooms and saffron. Add tomatoes, fish stock, cayenne and salt. Simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Combine cornstarch and water, add to sauce to thicken. When desired consistency is obtained, remove pan from heat and add parsley. Keep warm.

Grill or broil trout to a golden brown and remove to warm serving platter. Place mashed potatoes in a pastry bag and flute a wall around extreme edge of fish platter. Cover fish with warm sauce. Garnish with whole mushrooms and shrimp. Sprinkle potatoes with paprika. Place under flame until potatoes are lightly browned.

Serves:4.

Wine: Chablis.

Among Detroit's top restaurants is the Cabaret La Boheme in the Pontchatrain Hotel.

The recipe contributed by this establishment is called Lobsters a l'Americain . Since it is a French dish, it is difficult to understand the name. Don't try. Just prepare and enjoy:

LOBSTERS A L'AMERICAIN

6 chicken lobsters
Salt and pepper to taste
6 tablespoons olive oil
4 shallots, chopped fine
3 cloves garlic, crushed
1 glass fine cognac
8 glassfuls dry white wine
8 fresh tomatoes, pressed and chopped
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
Dash of tarragon
Dash of cayenne
4 tablespoons butter

Sever claws from lobsters and split tail sections in 4. Remove and discard the sac. Season the lobster with salt and pepper and fry in the olive oil in a saute pan over hot fire until the meat is stiffened. Pour out oil from pan and sprinkle lobster with shallots, garlic, cognac, and simmer for 5 minutes. Add the dry white wine, tomatoes, parsley, tarragon and cayenne, cover and cook for 20 minutes in medium oven. Place lobster in separate dish and reduce liquid in pan to 1-4. Add butterand season to taste. Pour over lobster, then sprinkle with hot cognac and flambe to serve.

Serves: 6.

Wine: Dry white wine.

Imaginative Cookery for One or Two

Cooking exciting and nutritious meals for one or two diners is a challenge that begins at the market and continues in the kitchen. Frequently time, money, preferences and lack of enough variety make preparing large roasts and full recipes impractical.

Fortunately, many meat choices adapt well to serving one or two, according to Reba Staggs, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board. For example, beef sirloin steak is an appropriate cut to buy for two meals. When cut in half, one piece can be cubed for kabobs and the other section broiled for a hearty steak dinner.

Pork chops are another item that can be purchased in small quantity for braising or broiling. The cook's seasoning touches can make them gourmet fare.

Ground beef is another practical choice to serve one or two. It mixes with numerous ingredients for a variety of entrees.

Careful creativity is essential in planning tantalizing menus and imagination is an important ingredient when converting leftovers into new dishes.

Some recipes, such as the following two, are easily divisible to serve one or two.

Sirloin-Pepper Kabobs

1 beef sirloin steak, cut 1½ inches thick
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon onion powder
12 squares sweet red or green pepper (1½x1½ inches)

Remove bone and cut steak into sixteen 1½-inch cubes. Combine oil, lemon juice, salt, paprika, dry mustard, sugar and onion powder. Add marinade to beef cubes. Cover and refrigerate 4 hours or overnight. Alternate beef cubes with pepper squares. Place on grill making certain coals have burned down. Grill 15 to 20 minutes, turning occasionally, until browned. 4 servings.

Beefy Green Peppers

1 pound ground beef
2 large or 4 small green peppers, cut in half and seeded
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
½ cup instant rice, uncooked
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup catsup

Cook green pepper halves in boiling salted water 5 minutes. Invert and drain thoroughly. Combine ground beef, rice, onion, salt, pepper and catsup. Spoon into the peppers. Place peppers in a shallow baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Top with catsup or cheese the last 5 minutes of baking, if desired. 4 servings.

Savory Snack

For an unusual yet savory snack, open and drain the olive oil from a can of Norway sardines. Mash the sardines and blend with jar-type sharp cheese. Add a dash of lemon juice and spread on melba toast or saltines.

U.S. Consumers

The United States, with only six per cent of the world's population, consumes 40 per cent of the world's raw materials, including foostuffs!

Papagayo Room's Two-For-One Dinner Program

Lorraine and Nick Gust are bringing Mexico to Pacifica in leaps and bounds with their many Papagayo Room surprises. This new addition to the Gust "chain" of Rockaway Beach restaurants is proving a Mexican food success. To introduce the Mexican Combination Dinner, just one of the house specialties, the Papagayo Room is offering a "Two for One" special, which is valid Sunday through Friday. The offer expires Friday, January 29. So don't waste any time. Clip the coupon appearing in the advertisement on Bright Lights and present it to your waitress along with your dinner check. With the purchase of one Mexican Combination Dinner, you receive one free. In addition to this splendid offer, Nick has also arranged for take out orders from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. If you're planning a big party at home, let the Papagayo Room chef prepare a Mexican dinner for you. All you do is stop by and pick it up. Nick's restaurant and The Moonraker are also in "action," and the wild waves of the Pacific Ocean continue to beat the surf which is a stone's throw from the restaurants' frontage.

WEDDING BELLS — Capt. Charles McMillin of the 101 Airborne Paratroopers in Vietnam and his pretty fiance, Marcia Pickler, were the happiest couple at the Lanai restaurant one night last week. He was aide to Commanding General Hennessey and was back after 17 months in Vietnam. She is an airline hostess who met him in Hong Kong when he was on an R and R leave. Scheduled to be married in Fullerton last weekend, the couple were guests of the management of the Lanai and Villa Chartier.

Peach Wellington One Of Steakery Favorites

United Air Lines execs., dining like kings on Peach Wellington, Claudia, in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco, pronounced the gourmet steak dish: "The greatest invention since the peach." Lehr created the dish in honor of Dean Martin's beautiful daughter, Claudia . . . Andy Ardito, personable general manager of the Lord Fletcher Inn, a fashionable restaurant in Atherton, is a youthful veteran of the food industry. Prior to his present assignment, Andy held several executive posts with the Brave Bull organization, the Inn's parent company . . . The flickering fluorescent lights in the opening number of the Finocchio revue gives fans a quick insight into the colorful variety of this unusual show. The world-famous nightclub has been operating at the same location, in the center of San Francisco's famous nightlife row on North Beach, for more than 35 years.

Phil Lehr

When you think of chef Rudy Isch, you automatically think of Prime Rib, which happens to be one of his many specialties at the El Rancho restaurant in Millbrae. Diners may sample his considerable culinary expertise during both luncheon and dinner . . . The New Southern's Reno Donati and Bertolucci's Larry Bertolucci are really the best of friends, except on the golf course, when the two prominent restaurateurs show the competitive sides of their personalities. You can expect several "grudge" matches between the two in future months . . . It's all the little extras that make the big difference at Belmont Prime Rib. Included with your prime rib, steak or gourmet Continental dinner are a big dinner salad prepared at the table, a flaming casserole of luscious, home-made raviolis, and much more. And if you think that dining at Belmont Prime Rib costs a bundle, you're in for one sweet surprise: complete dinners are priced from a modest $3.50 . . . Chinese cuisine is the speciality at the Inn of the Sixth Happiness in San Mateo. A palate delight is Mandarin Duck, plus tasty soups such as Shark's Fin, and Stuffed Winter Melon. Every item is authentically prepared. With this in mind, certain dishes must be ordered a day in advance.

Rudy Isch

This has to be the greatest: A private ambulance pulled up to the Exposition Fish Grotto, Fisherman's Wharf, two stewards got out and rolled out the gurney atop of which was perched the customer. Gurney, patient and stewards slipped into the Expo's dining room and Augie Rosasco set up the table. Three orders of cioppino, then back to the ambulance and away into the night. . . . The elegantly decorated House of Troy restaurant in San Carlos offers a wide menu selection. A Top Sirloin Steak Dinner, served with soup or salad and a glass of wine, for $3.95 is just one of the most popular. Plenty of parking available in the rear of the restaurant. . . . San Remo's Italian Kitchen, one of several food establishments in Hillsdale's Farmers Market, serves such typically Italian dishes as spaghetti, ravioli, lasagne and chicken cacciatore. Pizza in various combinations and sizes is also available. All food may be prepared to take out. . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's Marina district is one restaurant that never has a "slow" night. During December, Lew set an all-time record, with the biggest month's business in 12 years.

Rose Licata Receives Humperdinck Kisses

A phone call from Vince Licata, the "Nevada tourist," Wednesday a.m. (and this time it wasn't to tell your Bright Lighter how to make a hard six with three dice): seems during a recent stay at the Riviera in Las Vegas, the Licata family took in the Engelbert Humperdinck show (ringside, of course). And who do you think Engelbert selected to sing to on stage? Vince's daughter, Rose, who was also the recipient of four Engelbert kisses. If you think she wasn't thrilled with the Humperdinck smackers, just stop by Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant . . . Next on Foster's "food program" is the take-home Farm-Fried Chicken Dinner (bucket for five), which includes 14 pieces of chicken, 10 fluffy rolls and a pint of gravy, at the generous offer of $2.95 with the coupon appearing in Foster's advertisement. Since this special purchase offer is for a limited time (Monday, January 18 through Friday, January 22), it's Bright Lights' suggestion that you waste no time getting in on this $1 savings (the regular price is $3.95) . . . The Villa Coffee House needs no introduction to those who seek out the "best food at the best price," since prices here are "grounded" to fit any budget. Open 24 hours a day, with counter and booth action at all times.

Rose Licata

Barbara and Jerry Barber's Park Avenue Tours, with four conveniently located Bay Area offices, provides package deals designed to be money-savers for everyone traveling to Lake Tahoe. Regardless of the mode of transportation (with the exception of walking), Park Avenue Tours has a package guaranteed to put dollars back into your pocket. Also available are Las Vegas and Reno tours, with the same money-saving deals being provided . . . If you're looking for a pizza, it's "bargain time" again at all four Round Table Pizza Parlors (in San Mateo: Third Avenue and B Street, Hillsdale, College Plaza Shopping Center; Burlingame: Burlingame Avenue). Take advantage of Pete Braillier's big special — one dollar off any large pizza — eat in or take out. This offer is good through January 31 — clip the coupon advertisement appearing in Bright Lights — and go get 'em! Open seven days a week . . . You'd be surprised how many organizations and social leaders are already planning their Holiday banquets. Lucien Sabella, the A. Sabella's restaurant Midas, confided during a recent conflab at his famous Fisherman's Wharf dining site that his reservations book shows at least 20 banquets for November and December of this year. As you know, A. Sabella's is known as "Best for Banquets."

The wine list at the Shirt Tail, Palo Alto, points out Manager Durby Adkins with pride, includes Beaujolais and Pouilly Fuisse from France, Blue Nun Liebfraumilch, the German Rhine wine, and Lancers of Portugal. There is also the carafe of California wine drawn from their wine bar. . . . Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's picturesque Rockaway Beach, is discovering that people come from all over the Bay Area (often driving for hours to reach his restaurant) to try his mouth-watering pizzas, which come adorned with all the trimmings and then some. . . . San Mateo's new Royal Coach, a welcome addition to the Peninsula's hotel and restaurant circuit, is now serving a "Royal Family Brunch" every Sunday in the luxurious Coach & Horses dining room. Served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., the brunch includes a wide variety of special palate pleasers, as well as the usual assortment of tempting breakfast dishes. A children's plate is also available at a reduced price.

Head Start Program for N. County

A proposed 13.45 per cent cut in Head Start program budgets about the country is being restored. Two new programs should be able to start in Pacifica and in the Daly City-Brisbane area, Mrs. Allison Glickman, head of the county's Head Start programs, reported to the Economic Opportunity Commission Friday.

If the budget reduction had gone into effect, Mrs. Glickman said, funds for local programs would have been cut from $155,000 to $129,280.

"The parents refused to work on a budget of this amount," Mrs. Glickman said. She told the commission some children would have to have been cut from the program, which now serves 120 children in six programs about the county.

"We are preparing preschool children who are behind the eight-ball to go into schools on the same level as middle class or upper middle class children," Mrs. Glickman said.

To be eligible for the program a family of two children must have an income no higher than $3000 a year or must be under the Aid to Dependent Children welfare program.

Suspect Sought

Pacifica police are hunting for the would-be rapist of two north Pacifica women Friday.

Authorities believe the same unshaven man, in his forties, was responsible for both attempts.

The suspect was mistakenly identified as a moving man by a 28-year-old housewife, whose screams were heard by the real movers. The suspect fled without harming the women.

He posed as a service station attendant who came to discuss a check to gain entry into the home of a 20-year-old student. The suspect was frightened and fled when the single woman screamed.

The suspect was described as a white male adult, 40 years, 5-9, 170-180 pounds, greying brown hair, blue eyes, of medium build, medium length hair parted on the left side.

Pacifican Stabbed

A 27-year-old Pacifican is in Mary's Help Hospital with a collapsed lung after being stabbed during an argument early Saturday.

Andrew Loera of 9 Sequoia Way was reported in fair condition at the Daly City Hospital.

Pacifica police said Gary D. Ray, 15, of 479 Manor Drive, was at Hillcrest Juvenile Center on an assault with a deadly weapon charge.

The alleged stabbing happened at the McDonald's restaurant parking lot at 129 Monterey Road, shortly after 1 a.m.

Police said the incident apparently involved the suspect's 22-year-old sister, Betty Ray, and the victim.

There reportedly was name calling, then and exchange of blows by Miss Ray and the victim before the stabbing, according to patrolman Bob Morris.

Mt. San Bruno Quarry Wins County Okay

The controversial Lone Star quarry on San Bruno Mountain was given a permit Wednesday to continue to operate for 60 days.

The action was taken by the County Planning Commission, over the objections of a delegation of Brisbane residents, at the close of a three-hour hearing in Redwood City.

Attorney Jerome Berg, spokesman for the group of 50 residents, told the planners that the citizenry, having won a long battle to rid the town of garbage dumps, now intends to carry on a similar crusade against the quarry.

Berg called the quarry an "ecological disaster" and speculated that it could even change the climate of Brisbane by "breaching" San Bruno Mountain and allowing fog to roll in from the ocean onto the sheltered hillside community.

City Attorney David Friedenberg scoffed at the claim and said he doubted that Berg and his group represent the majority of Brisbane residents.

Brisbane Police Fracas Heats Up

By FRANK LaPIERRE

"The percentage of bad policemen is far less than the percentage of bad politicians," longtime Brisbane councilman Jess Salmon said Friday.

Salmon made his statement in the wake of accusations lodged by Brisbane mayor Dr. S. J. Guardino that his police department was "sadly lacking in ability."

Guardino, discussing police methods in the county at a recent luncheon meeting with San Mateo County supervisor James V. Fitzgerald and other North County mayors, also slapped law enforcement agencies nationwide for their "harassing actions."

In disagreeing with the mayor's analysis of police in Brisbane, Salmon said, "The men in our department are all excellent men in their field."

"I think also it takes a very special type person to be a good policeman," Salmon said. "At this time in our society when youth is demonstrating, rioting and rebelling, is when police departments across the nation need all the support they can get."

The nine-year veteran of the Brisbane council pointed out that Guardino "did not speak the opinion of all city councilmen."

Guardino reportedly has informed several persons his remarks at the meeting in a South San Francisco restaurant were taken out of context by newsmen covering the affair.

In addition to telling the gathering that Brisbane policemen were unable to handle drug problems afflicting his city, along with harassing some citizens, Guardino ventured all policemen have to be "sadistic to be a policeman."

Meanwhile, Brisbane police chief William Beard has obtained the services of an East Bay law firm and is now investigating the possibility of filing a $1 million lawsuit against Guardino for defamation of character, along with related charges.

Asked if he felt Guardino was accurate in his appraisal of his department, Chief Beard replied, "Absolutely not . . . every man (in my department) is qualified to do his job."

Two young Highway Patrolmen reported an unknown gunman took four shots at them — apparently with a high powered hunting rifle — as they were helping a stranded motorist on the San Bruno Avenue overcrossing at Bayshore Freeway in zero visibility fog Tuesday morning.

And a 25-year-old veterinarian's assistant reported to deputies someone took pot shots at him and his wife as they walked along the beach south of their home near the Pescadero Beach Monday evening.

Patrolmen Kelly Smith and William Smyser reported that they stopped their patrol car on the San Bruno overcrossing over the Bayshore Freeway around 5 a.m. today because of a stalled car.

Smyser said when he placed a flare out on the roadway he heard a loud report which sounded like it came from a high powered rifle. Smyser, a deer hunter, said the report definitely did not sound like a backfire, and no autos could be seen nor heard in the vicinity.

After a pause a couple of more rounds were fired off, sounding as they came from a semi-automatic weapon. After another pause, a fourth shot was fired.

The two patrolmen said the sounds came from the western end of the overpass, from somewhere near a Pacific Gas and Electric Company right of way. Because of the heavy fog, the patrolman could find no one, however. They said their patrol car was not hit.

Earl Arthur Fields, 25, reported he and his wife, Patricia, 22, were walking along the beach near their home around 6:30 p.m. when two shots seemed to go over his head. Fields said he climbed a bank, and saw a man, about 30 to 32-years-old, leaning against a car with a rifle in his hands. He said the man fired a volley of 10 rounds in his direction.

Deputies reported that as Fields had only placed his head slightly above the top of the bank, the man with the weapon may not have actually seen him, however.

Reading Act Topic Set

Mrs. Ruth Overfield will discuss the Miller-Unruh reading act at 7:30 p.m., January 20, at the Crocker school in Daly City.

Mrs. Overfield heads the statewide program.

The Miller-Unruh program's funding was slashed by 25 per cent last year, and reading specialists in the Jefferson Elementary School District are staging the information meeting at the 649 Bellevue Street school.

Mrs. Overfield is in position to inform local educators and parents of the program's success and its future.

A spokesman for the Crocker program explained that the Miller-Unruh program was designed to upgrade the reading level of primary-level students.

The reading specialist works with both teachers and pupils.

Student Hurt in Accident in Pacifica

An 18-year-old College of San Mateo student was critically injured when he reportedly started crawling across the Cabrillo Highway north of Crespi Drive in Pacifica last night and then suddenly bolted in front of a northbound car, California Highway Patrolmen reported.

Taken to Mary's Help Hospital with major head and chest injuries was Peter Alfred Fonseca of 661 Eucalyptus Way, San Bruno. He was struck by a vehicle driven by Theodore C. Stenger, 43, a shipyard foreman of 136 Santa Inez Avenue, San Bruno, according to Highway Patrolmen R. A. Posta and J. Harris.

One witness told the patrolmen he saw Fonseca crawling eastbound across the highway. He said when he stopped his truck, the youth jumped and began running across the highway.

Transmitters Burglarized

Four private commercial radio stations went off the air Saturday night when someone stole their transmitters.

Deputy Sheriff Bruce Molyneux said the devices were taken from the Crocker FM Center atop San Bruno Mountain, which houses communications apparatus for several companies.

Caretaker Vincent Marsili told the deputy that the theft was discovered after the Bank of America communications system failed Saturday night. A repairman dispatched to the center found that the door had been pried open and that some one had cut the cables to four transmitters and had stolen them.

In addition to Bank of America, victims were Lowrie Paving Company, Baruh Liquors, and Eureka Federal Savings.

The total loss was estimated at $2,700.

CHARLES WALGREEN, JR. (right) will retire from his administrative and executive capacities as chairman of the Walgreen Company's board of shareowners March 31. Walgreen has been the company's chief executive officer for over 31 years. Company president Charles Walgreen III has predicted "good first quarter earnings" for the firm, based on "our excellent sales trend" and improved operating conditions.

Evasive Tactics?

Candidates for election to the San Bruno council have been alerted to beware of alleged evasive tactics by Mayor Neil Christal and Councilmen Ted Long and Dick Griffith.

The warning came in a letter to all twelve candidates from Larry Mobley, new chairman of the San Bruno Recall Committee.

Mobley warned that the three councilmen, targets of the scheduled March 2 recall election, "will undoubtedly try to pull you off the main issue into unrelated areas."

The "unrelated" issues listed by Mobley include dirt haul, airport noise and ecology. He said such tactics were used against the recall committee during the petition circulation campaign.

Mobley appealed to the candidates to "make the distinction that the three councilmen acted deliberately and in an obviously pre-arranged manner" in voting to hire City Manager Christopher Menkin.

"Once an elected official puts his own personal interest, whatever his motive may be, above the interest of the public, he can no longer be trusted to perform his duties honestly and fairly and should be removed from office," said Mobley.

The recall committee plans further communications to all candidates, according to the chairman.

As an injunction is scheduled to be filed next week to halt the San Bruno recall, Councilman Ted Long has struck out at what he calls the illogic and inconsistency in the movement.

Long cited the letter issued by Mobley.

"It seems to me that they have just eliminated most major issues confronting the community," said Long. "They would have the residents go to the polls without any insight or understanding on how the various candidates feel on these issues."

Long said the entire image as presented by the recall is not only misleading, but is false.

"I have consistently held that the appointment of the city manager was done in an open meeting with every member of the council participating. The vote was only held after one of the dissenting minority refused to allow the matter to be continued for further study."

Judge Becker to Be Seated

Municipal Judge Charles Becker will be installed as Presiding Judge of the Northern County Judicial District court in South San Francisco Thursday.

He succeeds judge F. Jose de-Larios to the position.

The move was voted on at the annual meeting of the municipal court judges Monday. Each year the judges meet and adopt the coming year's bail schedules.

MEETING TODAY

A Friends of the Library volunteer organizational meeting is scheduled Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the San Bruno Library basement auditorium.

THE MARQUEE

When the film industry discovered the youth market and began pushing action, violence, motorcycle, sex themes their way, the hue and cry was that they'd missed the boat in coming anywhere near understanding the under-30 thinking.

They got smart when they hired filmmakers in their twenties to do their own thing. Joseph Levine's Avco-Embassy company which financed a new release, "The Ski Bum" gave three young, almost inexperienced men carte blanche and $750,000. How that all came about is even more interesting than the finished film.

Romain Gary had written the story as a film script for his wife Jean Seberg. It was reportedly poor and totally unusable. So he reworked it into a novel and it became a best seller.

Levine paid $200,000 for the film rights and shopped around for someone to write a treatment. Hollis Alpert, New York film critic, did one that also was thrown out. Meanwhile, Peter O'Toole was offered $750,000 to play the title role but he declined when he read the script. Then they tried to get Christopher Jones. All this took place in 1964.

The scene shifts to the UCLA film division where 26 year old David Dawdy, 25 year old Bruce Clark and 30 year old Marc Siegler are in the graduate school. Producer Roger Corman approached them about doing a low budget motorcycle film, "Naked Angels." They gathered together 15 actors, 15 bikes and in three weeks made a film for $100,000 that has since grossed Corman $1,000,000.

"We were mutually exploited," Siegler told us last week. "He made money and we were paid to learn. During last summer we were trying to scout our own film ideas and made contact with Levine's men. They arranged for us to have breakfast with the boss at the Beverly Hills Hotel."

"When we walked in, I kicked off my shoes like I always do. And I don't wear socks. David was wearing a little purse at his waist with a sandwich in it. Our hair was frizzed out."

"Levine asked us what we liked about 'Easy Rider' and sized us up to be bonafide hippies. He told us not to read the book on 'The Ski Bum' but to use the title and write our own treatment. Then he said, when you come to New York, don't change your appearance. After that he left us alone and we made his film for $750,000, the same amount he'd have paid O'Toole to play the title role."

Does the movie mogul like the film he gambled on?

"Nope. He says he doesn't understand it and was disappointed there wasn't more sex and violence in it. But we made a film we care about and could have made it cheaper if we hadn't shot in such an expensive ski resort."

Due to open in the Bay Area on Wednesday, "The Ski Bum" leading role is played by Zalman King, an unknown when he was cast but who has since begun his own television series, 'The Young Lawyers.'

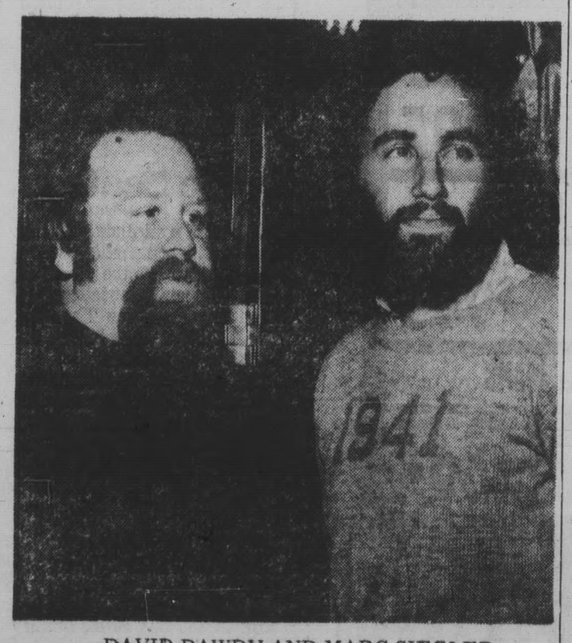
"Zal had never skied before but within ten days became a moderated advanced skier. He's a natural athlete and, was a scuba diver in the Bahamas" said Siegler.

Produer Dawdy added to what scriptwriter Siegler said (co-author and director Clark wouldn't come to the interview because he hates answering questions) with "we crammed the Sixties into one and one half hours of film. But it spaces out to four hours because you won't be able to stop thinking or talking about it for hours later. Only television commercials give you the intensity we caught on film."

"It's not the game of art to exploit set situations. The audience always has to bring something to a film. We know our film will have a limited, specialized audience. But the backers only need one in 100 to see their product, or two million people to make it a commercial success," he said.

"As young people and as filmmakers we're trying to do something positive. Perhaps the film will irritate people enough to do something themselves. Clark is getting his Master's Degree for this film. Siegler will get his for our next one. We have plans for four more."

"The current youth market films are about the radicalization of someone. The Sixties to youth was a period of wealth and freedom without their knowing what to do with it. Now there is so much money around you can live off unemployment with a Master's Degree in your pocket. Our ski bum hero attempts to float on society. It was a period of reaction rather than commitment. If we as filmmakers can learn fast enough, films in the future will suggest alternatives," Dawdy concluded.



DAVID DAWDY AND MARC SIEGLER
